

Democrats Hope to Revamp Budget on Own Political Lines

Foreign Aid Certain to be Under Attack in Congress

Washington — (U) — The Democratic congress signaled its intention today of recasting President Eisenhower's budget along the lines of its own political ideas.

Prime target in a drive to pare down the over-all $79,800,000,000 spending total forecast for the year beginning July 1 seemed likely to be the president's request for $4,175,000,000 in new money for foreign aid. This included $2 billion for military outlays.

Although Eisenhower estimated the amount of actual aid spending at $3,450,000,000, he asked for more appropriations to stretch the program out into the future. The quick consensus was that he will get less new money than he expects to spend.

On the other hand, Democrats laid the groundwork to reshuffle and increase the $40,995,000,000 defense program. They showed immediate irritation and disappointment that Eisenhower's space recommendation were not more comprehensive.

In other comment, they balked at increasing postal rates or gasoline rates, as Eisenhower asked. They criticized his housing proposals.

They raked his proposal to raise the interest ceiling on government bonds.

And by way of action, they called a senate Democratic caucus tomorrow to take the first steps toward passage of a billion dollar school construction bill there is every indication the president will veto.

Fight Indicated

Outnumbered Republicans announced they will fight not only to keep the budget balanced but to assure the $4,184,000,000 surplus Eisenhower forecast.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said Eisenhower, in making this prediction, was trying to commit his successor, since he will leave office.

Says Nation's Leadership Big Election Issue

Humphrey Claims Republicans Hide 'Things Under Rug'

Milwaukee — (U) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) will fly to Milwaukee to hold a news conference Thursday morning. Presumably he will announce he is entering the Wisconsin presidential primary April 5.

Milwaukee — (U) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) said last night the main issue in the 1960 presidential campaign will be whether the "Republicans can offer the nation the kind of leadership it requires."

"This administration will go down in history as one that has pushed more things under the rug than any other since Calvin Coolidge," Humphrey said at a news conference.

Humphrey's latest visit, which also included a television talk, was regarded as the official opening of his Wisconsin campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. He also appeared at Racine.

Kennedy Not Entered

Humphrey so far is the only announced candidate in the April 5 Wisconsin primary. Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) has been urged to enter the Democratic race, but last week his brothers, Robert and Ted, suggested he skip the contest because it would commit him to a battle in Humphrey's back yard.

Wisconsin Democratic Sen. William Proxmire said that in the event the Democratic contest fails to draw two strong candidates, he will consider entering as an unpledged favorite son.

The military policies of the Eisenhower administration, Humphrey said, have left the U.S. second to Soviet Russia in armament.

This Is Part of the Wreckage of a Capital Airlines plane after it crashed on a marshland hillside near Holdcroft, Va., Monday night. Fifty persons died in the wreck.

Rescue Workers Have to Wait 9 Hours for Wreck To Cool to Find Bodies

BY MARSHALL JOHNSON

Holdcroft, Va. — (U) — A Norfolk-bound airliner groped erratically through dense fog, then plunged into a swampy ravine near here late last night. Fifty persons died in the flaming wreckage.

The crash of the Capital Airlines prop-jet Viscount was the nation's worst air disaster in nearly a year and the worst in Virginia history.

It wasn't until nearly 8 a.m.—more than nine hours after the big 4-engine plane dropped nearly straight down into the mushy ground—that rescue workers could enter the cooling wreckage in search of the 46 passengers and 4 crew members.

Sailor Among Crash Victims

Lost Life Because Storm Cancelled Earlier Flight

Milwaukee — (U) — Because an earlier flight out of Milwaukee was cancelled due to a snowstorm, a 19-year-old sailor, Richard Lartz of Mukwonago, Wis., was aboard the Capital Airlines that crashed in Virginia Monday night. He was one of 50 persons killed.

Lartz had spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lartz of Mukwonago and was returning to the Norfolk Naval Base. He was due back at 7:30 a.m. today.

Lartz had a reservation aboard Capital flight 112 due to leave Gen. Mitchell Air Field in Milwaukee at 8:45 a.m. Monday, for Washington via Detroit. However, due to a heavy snowstorm the flight was canceled. Lartz took a North Central flight to Chicago and boarded Capital flight 20 from Chicago to Norfolk via Washington. The plane crashed in a blinding fog near Holdcroft, Va. All aboard were killed.

Lartz enlisted in the navy in February, 1958.

All Are Dead

"I would say absolutely there was no chance for anyone to get out of it," asked John Finnegan, Jr., a Richmond fire battalion chief who drove the 30 miles to offer assistance. "That's what it looked like."

Among the victims were Mrs. Eugene Gilbert, 25, of New York City, a partner with her husband in youth research work; Albert W. Rueff, 42, and Charles A. Truhn, Jr., 52, Ford Motor company executives at Louisville, Ky., and Madison — Vice President Richard Nixon will file as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in the Wisconsin preferential preference primary, but he will avoid direct involvement in the election of a convention delegate slate here.

That can be reported on the basis of recent discussions between Wisconsin party leaders and those close to the vice president's office in Washington.

21 Injured as School Bus and Milk Truck Crash

Argyle, Wis. — (U) — A school bus driver, Diana Severson, in this southern Wisconsin town today, injuring both drivers and 19 children. Only three were hospitalized.

Taken to a hospital were Kenneth Hendrickson, the bus driver, Diana Severson, 11, and Janice Rufenacht, 6, all of Argyle. The milk truck driver, Donald M. Dammen, and 17 other children aboard the bus were treated for cuts and bruises by a physician.

Hendrickson suffered broken ribs and cuts and bruises. The Severson girl a fractured kneecap, and the Rufenacht girl possible internal injuries. None was in critical condition.

Authorities said the collision apparently was caused by a slippery spot on the snow-covered highway. The bus had been picking up children in rural homes to take them to school in Argyle.

'Victory' for Arabs

Egypt Accepts Russian Help To Build Second Stage of Dam

Cairo — (U) — Egypt has accepted Russian help to build the second stage of its billion-dollar Aswan high dam. The Kremlin already is helping with the first stage of construction.

The official Middle East News agency said the second stage—including actual building of the dam—will cost $373,100,000; of which $258,300,000 would be needed in foreign exchange to pay for equipment, material and technical personnel from abroad. Apparently Russia will supply the goods or the exchange on a long-term loan basis.

Single Unit

The agency hailed the new agreement between the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic as an "admirable victory" for the Arab nation. As a result, it declared, President Nasser's cherished project—long a cold war pawn—will be built as one unit, and work will be inter-related, with no separation between stages.

Russia already has put up about $100 million in financial aid, machinery and technical assistance to build the coffer dams and diversion canals necessary before construction

Gronouski Gets Senate Approval

Madison — (U) — Dr. John A. Gronouski, Madison, was confirmed by the senate today as Wisconsin tax commissioner. The vote was 23-1.

A research director for the state department of taxation since early in 1956, Gronouski was appointed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to succeed Harry W. Harder.

Tomahawk Man Dies in Crash

Charles Rhode, 34, Lost Control of Car During Snowstorm

Chilton — A Tomahawk man was pronounced dead on arrival at Calumet Memorial hospital Monday noon after his car left Highway 151-55 during a snowstorm and piled head-on into a tree.

The victim, Charles Rhode, 34, became Calumet county's first traffic fatality of 1960 and raised the state traffic toll to 36, two more than the total a year ago.

His northbound car left Highway 151-55 about one-half mile near the Fond du Lac county line. It traveled about 171 feet.

Japan, U. S. Sign Security Treaty

Ike and Kishi Have Long Talk on World Problems

Washington — (U) — President Eisenhower and Japan's Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi talked over world problems today in a long private conference.

Their White House meeting was preliminary to the official signing later of the U.S.-Japan security treaty.

One purpose of Kishi's call on the president was to extend a formal invitation for him to make a state visit to Japan.

Uppermost in the Kishi-Eisenhower talks was the question of world tensions, including the problem of communist China, disarmament, and the east-west summit meeting next May.

Also, Kishi was prepared to make a strong bid for Japan's inclusion in development plans and trade promotion with the United States and European countries.

The treaty would raise Japan, once a U.S.-occupied nation, to the status of equal partner in U.S.-Japanese relations and officially place her in the free world camp.

The invitation for an Eisenhower visit was carried by Kishi from Emperor Hirohito. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the first diplomatic envoys from Japan to this country.

The White House has not yet said whether Eisenhower will travel to the Far East this year. The president plans to go to South America next month and to Russia in June.

showdown today on the question of press freedom.

Employees of the independent newspaper Avance took over publication of yesterday's edition after the management refused to attach union disclaimers to articles and editorials the unions considered unfavorable to the Castro regime.

Avance Publisher Jorge Zayas declared the seizure demonstrates that "in this country there now are no guarantees for free expression of thought." Zayas, an outspoken critic of the government, is Caribbean representative for the Inter-American Press association's freedom of the press committee.

Surrenders Paper

A spokesman said the publisher has decided to give up the paper rather than bow to the unions. Zayas' whereabouts were not known, and the spokesman refused to say if he had taken refuge in a foreign embassy.

The pro-Castro National College of Journalists and the National Federation of Graphic Arts Workers precipitated the press crisis when they demanded that "clarifying notes" be placed at the bottom of all news stories and editorials they considered objectionable after Jan. 15. The form note said that "the foregoing article does not conform to the truth or to the most elemental journalistic ethic."

Castro yesterday rejected appeals from independent publishers to settle the dispute.

Regents Cast Tie Vote on Keeping ROTC Compulsory

Madison — (U) — University of Wisconsin regents cast a tie 5-5 vote today on changing compulsory military training at the university, meaning that the present program will continue unchanged for the time being.

The mail vote killed a motion that ROTC be changed from compulsory to voluntary. A. Matt Werner of Sheboygan, regent vice president, ruled that the tie vote killed the motion.

University President Conrad Elvehjem said the question "undoubtedly will be discussed further by the regents when the vote is reported for the record at the regents' February meeting."

He added: "I assume that at the meeting consideration will be given to procedures for strengthening the ROTC program."

The faculty had recommended that ROTC be made voluntary next September.

Reserve officer training has been compulsory at Wisconsin since 1941 for all freshmen and sophomore men.

Recess Sought Until June 1

Militarily Ahead of Reds, Defense Says

Secretary of Defense Gates, Gen. Twining Give Rosy Picture, Caution Against Complacency

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington —(AP)— The defense department has told congress the United States is militarily ahead of Russia and far exceeds the Soviets in ability to deliver nuclear weapons on an enemy target.

This rosy defense picture was given last week to the house appropriations committee by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. Their revised and censored closed-door testimony was made public today by the committee.

The testimony prompted Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the defense appropriations subcommittee, to remark "this is the most enthusiastic and rosy and reassuring presentation that we have ever had."

Degraded Capabilities

While cautioning against complacency, both Gates and Twining criticized what Twining called a tendency "to degrade the capabilities of the American people and the peoples of the free world" and to picture in glowing terms the efforts of the communist bloc.

"The plain and unadorned truth of the matter," Twining said, "is that the moral, military, physical and economic strengths of our people and of our allies have been adequate to resist and deter communist aggression. I am confident that this will continue to be the case. Our nation is not defenseless. Our nation is not populated by a people who are ready to buckle under to a rocket-rattling dictatorship."

In coming summit negotiations, Twining said, "we want to deal from strength. We have terrific strength in the military and in our country."

Twining said he believed the possibility of an all-out nuclear war with Russia is "very, very slim."

Soviet Concessions

Gates said "there is nothing to justify a belief that the Soviets will make substantive concessions which will reduce our security requirements." On the contrary, he added, Russia is increasing its military capabilities, particularly in the missile delivery field.

"But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts," he declared.

"Manned bombers are still, for both ourselves and the U. S. S. R., the primary means of delivering heavy nuclear weapons in the volume and with accuracy needed to strike a decisive blow. In this category the United States far exceeds the USSR. We have several times more intercontinental jet bombers and more medium jet bombers. . . we are well ahead of the U. S. S. R. in air-to-air refueling capabilities, air-to-surface missile development, and other important air warfare techniques."

Peep Holes Bad In Post Offices, Politician Says

Washington —(AP)— Rep. Ken Hechler (D-WVa.) says the post office practice of spying on employees through hidden peepholes is "vicious, un-American and insulting."

A post office department spokesman said the inspection galleries, as they are called, are used only when tampering with the mails is suspected at a particular post office.

Hechler said Monday he was shocked to learn that a new post office at Ravenswood, W. Va., has such a system of peepholes for post office inspectors.

"This is going on in post offices all over the country," Hechler told the house. "I suggest that Postmaster Gen. Arthur E. Summerfield may want to place signs which warn the post office employees: 'big brother Arthur is watching you.'"

Testimony in Hearing on Suicide Bombs

Spokesman for Pilots to Offer Safety Precautions

Washington —(AP)— A spokesman for airline pilots gets a chance today to recommend new precautions against the murderous or suicidal bomber who plants explosives aboard a plane.

The suspected bombings of two airlines, which crashed with a loss of 72 lives, provides a backdrop for the testimony at a public hearing by the Senate Aviation subcommittee.

How deeply the subcommittee will go into the matter with Clarence Sayen, president of the Air Line Pilots association, remained to be seen. Subcommittee sources indicated the subject would be raised.

The subcommittee already has heard testimony indicating that the Jan. 6 disaster in which a National Airlines passenger plane crashed in North Carolina killing 34 may have been the work of a bomber bent on suicide or murder.

Crash in Gulf

Since then the Civil Aviation board released evidence that the mysterious crash of another airliner, which carried 42 to death in the Gulf of Mexico on Nov. 16, also may have resulted from a bomb.

The district attorney's office in Los Angeles announced it was exploring a possibility that Dr. Robert Speer, a Dallas, listed as one of the passengers, might have induced the trip in his stead.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Calif.) said the subcommittee hopes later in the week to receive more information about both disasters at a closed door meeting with CAB officials and perhaps others.

Ghosts Quiet Down at New Edgar G. Jones Home

Baltimore Man Plagued With Odd Epidemic of Exploding Dishware

Baltimore —(AP)— The ghosts had quieted down Monday at the home of Edgar G. Jones. No spirits were in evidence as newsmen and photographers camped at the 6-room, 2-story house.

Earlier the Jones family had reported a frightening 4-day epidemic of flying glassware and exploding pottery.

The only explosion Monday came when Jones propelled a self-appointed ghost neutralizer from the house.

Prays Ghost Away

The neutralizer, a moving-van driver, said he would pray in every room and drive the demons away. His initial incantation was shouted so loudly it almost unhinged a photographer.

Jones, a retired fireman, said things have been falling and breaking at the house since Thursday. He said it got particularly rough Sunday night when seven soft-drink bottles exploded and a can of vegetables fell from a shelf. When he bent to pick up the can, another can bopped him. The family hasn't witnessed the other accidents. They just hear a noise and find something moved or broken.

Noisy Type

One theory is that the Joneses are being pestered by poltergeists — noisy ghosts. An international authority, Prof. William Henry Salter, has named poltergeists as the "principal type of spontaneous physical phenomenon." He said the agent is often a boy or girl.

The Jones grandson, Theodore Pauls, 17, lives at the house with his parents and grandparents. Ted stays in the house most of the time and seems interested in science fiction, but Jones is convinced he has nothing to do with the mystery.

Firemen, police and utility men are baffled, and the FBI has declined to investigate. Jones doesn't know what to do next, but he hopes the thing, whatever it is, will go away soon.

His dishes can't last much longer.

Westbrook Pegler Sues New Wife for Divorce

Tucson, Ariz. —(AP)— Westbrook J. Pegler, syndicated newspaper columnist, is suing his wife of only eight months for divorce.

Pegler, 65, and his 47-year-old wife, the former Mrs. Pearl E. Doane, were married May 11 in New York city.

In a suit filed in superior court Monday, Pegler alleges his wife harassed him, prevented him from sleeping and mistreated him in other ways to the extent that it affected his health.

Mrs. Pegler was married twice previously, both marriages ending in divorce. This is Pegler's second marriage. His first wife, the former Julia Harpsman, died in 1955.

Habeas Corpus Writ Next Move In 11-Year Fight

San Francisco —(AP)— A new petition for writ of habeas corpus appears the next legal move in Caryl Chessman's 11-year fight to cancel his date with death — set for Feb. 19.

This was indicated Monday by his attorney, George T. Davis, after Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman denied a motion to set aside the conviction's execution date.

Davis had contended the Feb. 19 date was invalid on grounds a Los Angeles superior court, which set it, lacked jurisdiction. He argued that a stay granted by Judge Goodman in 1955 "remains in force."

Judge Goodman ruled that his previous order "has long since been superseded by decisions of the state and U.S. Supreme courts." However, the judge added:

"While I am not inviting this procedure, you may raise the question of due process in the state courts in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus" (in federal court).

Chessman's legal strategy has been based on "inadequacy of the trial record"—the court reporter at his 1948 Los Angeles trial having died before completing a transcript of the case. Another reporter completed the transcript with the help of the trial judge and the prosecutor.

Davis said he may also appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals from Judge Goodman's refusal to set aside the execution date.

Graham left here by plane Monday. He will visit 16 major cities in Ghana, Nigeria, Southern and Northern Rhodesia, Tanganyika, Ruanda-Urundi and Ethiopia.

Supreme Court Rules Out Peacetime Trials For Civilians Abroad

High Tribunal Says Such Action Violates Constitutional Rights

Washington —(AP)— The supreme court has ruled out peacetime court-martial trials for civilians abroad, but has gone out of its way to offer suggestions how the military might handle the resulting situation.

In divided decisions Monday, the high tribunal overturned military convictions of three civilian employees and a civilian dependent who accompanied armed forces overseas.

Justice Clark, author of three majority opinions, said such military trials violated the constitutional right to trial by jury. This right applies to everyone except members of the armed forces.

Clark recalled that in 1957 the court declared unconstitutional the military trial convictions of two women accused of killing their servicemen husbands abroad. These were capital cases, involving possible death penalties.

Monday's decisions broadened the 1957 legal holding to include civilian dependents of the military regardless of the nature of the offenses.

The decisions were shockers to Pentagon officials. They said they could not comment pending a thorough study of Clark's opinions.

But one Clark official said it was certain that military authorities abroad would now avoid, whenever possible, asking foreign governments for jurisdiction in cases involving American employees and relatives of servicemen.

Heretofore, this official said, it has been the policy of the military abroad to try to get such jurisdiction "to protect our people."

Big Problem

The size of the problem was emphasized by the official, who said the number of civilian dependents and employees abroad equals or is greater than the number of men in uniform. The justice department, during argument of the cases, told the supreme court the civilians abroad commit a substantial number of offenses and create serious disciplinary problems.

Clark said one plan to meet the problem would be to incorporate civilian employees directly into the armed services, either by compulsory induction or by voluntary enlistment. The armed services now have sufficient authority to set up a system for voluntary enlistment of specialists, the justice said, adding:

"Although some workers might hesitate to give up their civilian status for government overseas, it is unlikely that the armed forces would be unable to obtain a sufficient number of volunteers to meet their requirements."

Wiley Asks Change in China Policy

Washington —(AP)— Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said Monday the United States should adopt a flexible policy toward communist China.

"This does not mean that we should go soft on communism," Wiley said, "nor does it mean that we should recognize red China or admit it to the United Nations."

"To the contrary, the purpose is to provide our policy makers with a more realistic evaluation of the changes and motivating forces in China," Wiley added.

Wiley, the senior Republican member of the senate foreign relations committee, said that because of changing conditions in red China "it would be unrealistic for the United States to have an inflexible policy."

It is time for a new, hard look at U.S.-China policy, Wiley said. He said an effective policy should take account of these factors:

"The increasing military power of red China, particularly when this nuclear nation obtains missile-nuclear weapons; the impact of the Chinese population explosion in both southeast Asia and the world community; the growing Chinese economic might and its impact on world trade, and the interrelationships in the communist league, particularly between Peiping and Moscow."

Name Boston Mayor's Family For March of Dimes Award

New York —(AP)— The days before Boston's 1955 primary election city council candidate John F. Collins was struck by polio.

The disease paralyzed his throat, arms, abdomen and legs. Three of his four children were also stricken.

The Collins political career seemed finished.

Wouldn't Quit

"Shall I tell them you will withdraw from the race?" asked his wife, Mary. Collins looked up from his hospital bed and answered: "Under no circumstances will I get out of the campaign. We'll have to work harder."

Wife Campaigned

And they did. Mrs. Collins toured Boston's 22 wards in a 40-foot campaign. Her husband and the youngest child band was victorious in the primary and went on to win the council seat. Last fall, after three youngsters have fully recovered, he was re-elected mayor after campaigning from a wheelchair. A new honor was awarded today to the family.

For courage in "meeting the crisis of disease" and coping "with the threat of disaster," the Collinses today have been named the 1960 March of Dimes family of the year.

First Family

It is the first time an entire family has been named said Basil O'Connor, national foundation president, at the award presentation ceremony here.

Present to receive a hand lettered scroll from O'Connor were Mayor and Mrs. Collins and their children, Patricia, 11, John F., Jr., 9, Thomas, 7, and Peggy, 6. SONOTONE EXPANDS HEARING AID SERVICE

New easy-to-wear transistor models help hard of hearing

Richard H. Haviland, Sonotone District Manager for Northeastern Wisconsin, announces the opening of an office at 126 State Street, in downtown Oshkosh, in addition to the Sonotone office in Appleton.

Mr. Haviland states that the new Sonotone office is a result of recently unveiled plans for a nationwide expansion program by this pioneer hearing aid company. Sonotone operates directly through approximately 400 company offices throughout the U.S. to insure better service and guarantee of its products.

Personal service following the fitting of a hearing aid is a basic principle of Sonotone service, says Manager Haviland. "A certain amount of rehabilitation is always necessary to the new user of a hearing aid," he points out. "This is especially true of the hard-of-hearing person who has a severe, uncorrected loss over a period of years. Unfortunately, most people wait too long before taking action to correct their problem. Sonotone has devoted years of research to making hearing aids smaller and less conspicuous without sacrificing quality."

Equipped with the finest research laboratory of its kind, Sonotone has pioneered nearly every major hearing aid improvement in the last 30 years. These include the much publicized all-in-the-ear model and eyeglass hearing aids with the slim look and with Automatic Volume Control (AVC) built in to protect the user against sudden, loud noises. Sonotone's office at 218 North Morrison Street in Appleton is open from 9 to 4:30 daily and staffed with trained personnel for consultation on hearing problems. Batteries and service for all makes of hearing aids.

Zone Change for Supermarket Fails

Super Valu Building Plans Hinge On Who May Exercise One Option

Rezoning to permit construction of a supermarket between Harriet and Gunn streets on Walter avenue was denied Monday by the city planning commission.

Commissioners generally favored the idea, but said a legal cloud over an option to buy two lots in the block compelled denial.

A spokesman for Super Valu Stores, Inc., Hopkins, Minn., admitted there is a question whether the food store chain can buy the two lots with the option it has.

May Abandon

If the lots cannot be purchased, Super Valu will abandon its plans, he said. The plans are for a store with 13,125 square feet and a parking lot for 110 cars.

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider, in whose ward the property is, agreed with the commission's decision. Abandonment of the project after the rezoning would mean other people who have given options would have higher taxes and no immediate prospects for sale of their property for commercial purposes, he said.

The petition for rezoning can be withdrawn before a public hearing results from the commission action, thus permitting resubmittal of the proposal without waiting a year.

Opposing Sides

Petitioning for rezoning were five of six owners of the property proposed for rezoning from 2-family to commercial and light manufacturing district: Melvin W. Urban, Anton Liesch, Amanda and Alice Schabow and Carl J. Ulmen.

Agreeing not to oppose are 13 other nearby property owners.

Opposing are 47 property owners, including Theodore and Frances C. Kugler, owners of four lots in the same block which are not part of the proposal, and Mrs. Anna Miller, owner who has granted the controversial option.

Mrs. Miller gave an option to Jerome K. Rath while Rath was with Nygren Realtors. The option evidently was made out to Nygren Realtors and Rath.

Settle Question First

The question is whether Nygren Realtors or Rath may exercise the option, since Rath in the meantime has severed his connection with Nygren.

John C. Nygren indicated he would not like to exercise the option against the wishes of Mrs. Miller.

Commissioners said they would stay clear of the legal question. They demanded the legal question be settled before the property is considered again.

J. R. Whitman, Jr., a commissioner, said he favors the rezoning because it would upgrade the neighborhood, but would be against rezoning a person's property if the person is opposed. Other commissioners agreed.

Procedure to Replace City Sealer Aims at April 1 Appointment

The procedure for hiring a city sealer of weights and measures to replace Royal C. Hume, who resigned, has been announced by Mayor Mitchell.

The city will advertise the opening in the Post-Crescent and distribute application forms, furnished by the state, through the city clerk's office.

A deadline for applications will be set and the state will conduct examinations to rank the candidates. The top three candidates will be certified to the city. If oral exams are required, they will be held after the written exams.

The state will get the application blanks by Feb. 8 and will include candidates in its Feb. 20 regular monthly exam. The appointment probably will be made effective April 1, Mitchell said.

Smith, Campbellsport, area supervisor of state forests for the conservation department, met with five directors of the High Cliff Forest Park association after the organization's annual meeting Monday night at city hall. Road Work, Mound Care in Park Plans

Clyde T. Smith Outlines Progress For Association

First work on highway construction and cleanup and preservation of prehistoric Indian mounds south of the old stone quarry are scheduled at High Cliff State Forest park in 1960.

Further development of the nature trail and continued land appraisal also are scheduled, Clyde T. Smith, Campbellsport, of the state conservation department, told the Park Unit Names 2 New Directors, Reelects 3 to Office

Harry Weaver, Brillion, and John H. Stumpf, Sherwood, were elected to the board of the High Cliff Forest Park association.

Three directors reelected to office were Harold C. Adams, George E. Johnson and Gordon A. Bubolz, all of Appleton. Outgoing president Adam C. Remley announced that officers of the organization will be elected at a later board meeting.

Smith was the only one of four scheduled department speakers able to attend the session. Robert Espeseth, state park planning engineer, and two conservation engineers in charge of the proposed big boat marina had to turn back to Madison at Columbus because of hazardous road conditions.

It is hoped that actual reconstruction of roads into the park will be started this year, Smith said. The expenditure of $105,000 has been approved and the planning work by highway commission engineers is nearing completion, he explained. The roadwork will include the construction of at least three parking areas.

Smith, in charge of High Cliff State Forest park development as area supervisor of state forests, presented a progress report.

To Operate Concession

He announced that E. H. Verbrick, former owner of the property at the top of the cliff, will operate the concession there with the sale of food, soft drinks and beer. Verbrick sold his 12-acre holdings to the state for park use two years ago for $25,000.

Two major improvements to the park area during 1959 were construction of the small boat landing at the north end of the park and development of a 2-mile nature foot trail below the cliff proper. Thirty-seven items of nature interest have been marked along the trail, Smith said, and these stops for hikers have been numbered and described in a brochure. They include various trees, shrubs and geological formations in the area.

Park Camping

Camping was permitted in the park for the first time in 1959 and will be continued again this summer, he said. Records show that there were 606 camper days last year and 26 trailers stopped at the camp grounds and 113 families camped in tents. The wooded tract across the road from the concession is being used for limited camping, he said, although a permanent camping area is proposed in the future plans of the park.

Land Purchase

Purchase of an additional 44 acres of land, the Courtney-Stevens property, was approved by the state for $2,200. The High Cliff Forest Park association contributed $631 toward the purchase price and the land will be acquired for the park soon, Smith said.

Public use of the park during the last year nearly doubled over 1958, Smith pointed out. In 1957, the first year the park opened, 17,144 persons used the area; the number jumped to 54,144 in 1958 and totaled 95,528 in 1959.

Change Sale Terms For Addition to Industrial Park

George C. Lange agency has revised its offer by which it will sell some 61 acres of industrial park land to the city.

Roland Abitz, land owner, will take $5,000 down and $17,552 annually for five years, with interest at 4 per cent on the unpaid balance, Lange said. If the city wants, it can pay more than $5,000 down. Total purchase price is $92,760.

The new offer will be good until March 1, Lange reported.

State Firm Indicted for Price Fixing

Hamilton Company Of Two Rivers Listed With Eight Others

Milwaukee —A Wisconsin manufacturer of drafting furniture and equipment and eight of its principal dealers throughout the country were indicted by a federal grand jury Monday for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The Hamilton Manufacturing company of Two Rivers and the eight dealers were accused in the indictment with fixing prices in the distribution and sale of $38 million worth of drafting furniture and equipment.

The indictment also charged that Hamilton and the other defendants had agreed to boycott other manufacturers' products and other dealers who refused to go along with the alleged price fixing agreement.

The eight distributors named in the indictment were: Charles Bruning company, Inc., Chicago; Defiance Sales corporation, New York; Dieterich Post company, San Francisco; Eugene Dietzgen company, Chicago; B. K. Elliott company, Pittsburgh; Keuffel and Esser company, Hoboken, N. J.; Frederick Post company, Chicago, and L. L. Ridgway company, Inc., Houston.

End Speed Law on Waupaca Chain

Madison —The state legislature today gave final approval to the repeal of the 1941 law establishing a 15-mile-an-hour speed limit for boats on the Waupaca county Chain O' Lakes.

The bill now goes to the governor, who is expected to sign it. Waupaca officials and boating interests told the legislature they preferred to enact town ordinances governing the operation of boats in the resort area.

Elderly Need More Than Pensions

The program of compulsory retirement at age 65 is coming to be recognized more generally as a great waste of manpower. This point was well made recently by Paul F. Fleer, a representative of the State Board of Health and a member of the Governor's Conference on Aging. But the arbitrary retirement at 65 is not only a loss of manpower, it also puts many healthy people over 65 in an uncomfortable way of living. It was pointed out by Fleer that only one out of three persons over 65 years old is employed and that three-fifths of these people have less than a $1,000 annual income. He was referring to the cash income of elderly people over and above other means of livelihood.

But in a panel discussion on "problems of the aged" recently held at Green Bay, where Fleer spoke, it was brought out there is no agency devoted to finding part time job opportunities for older citizens other than the State Employment Service. Dr. George M. Shinnors, district health officer for the State Board of Health, said that if aging persons are to enjoy good health, they need "continued activity and purposeful endeavor in both work and recreation and in maintaining familiar social contacts."

The best way to meet the doctor's prescription for well-being of the aged would appear to be to have those who are healthy and able to continue on their jobs do so if they so desire. Those who retire with a small income could be greatly helped by finding jobs that would provide them with some income in addition to their Social Security, or to provide some useful occupation as well as some means of recreation for those who suddenly find themselves idle although not in need of additional income.

The Social Security law has given many people a sense of security and therefore much greater peace of mind than might otherwise be possible. Nevertheless, compulsory retirement is not a welcome thing for many who still are interested in their work and able to perform it. If retirement is to be forced upon them they will require some preparation for it just as they earlier required preparation for their jobs. The discussion at the Green Bay panel was interesting. Such discussion should help to guide public thinking on the subject and eventually bring some action.

Dinosaur Diggers

The Cleveland Museum of Natural History soon will have a reconstructed dinosaur 70 feet long. It will be the biggest ever mounted and the first representative of its family to be on display fully mounted.

This good fortune is due to the interest of four boys in museum work. In 1954, Edwin Delfs, 20, Richard Jones, 17, William West, Jr., 17, and Wesley Williams, 14, had been promised an expedition with experienced paleontologists of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington. When the time came for the trip the Smithsonian group had to cancel out because of prior engagements, but rather than disappoint the boys, the trustees told them to go by themselves and see what they could find. The truck and equipment were ready so the boys might just as well be using them.

The boys set out westward and in due time arrived at Grand Junction, Colo. They were idling about there waiting for a rancher to give them permission to excavate when one of the boys met a Kansas geology student who said his group had uncovered the remains of a dinosaur near Canon City, Colo., about 250 miles east. The boys quickly took off for that point and had no difficulty in locating the site. They found bones sticking out of the bank of a stream but deep under 28 feet of sandstone and shale. The location was on public land.

The first year they tunneled into the sandstone, building a mine with posts and finally succeeded in bringing out a 2,500 pound block containing two spine bones which they shipped to Cleveland. The remains there were identified as those of an haplocanthosaurus, a specimen which had been found only twice before. The youths returned the following year and the museum trustees were sufficiently interested to send along a mining engineer. However, the engineer merely reported that the boys were doing a fine job and they continued.

That year they bulldozed off the shale and with precision blasting moved the sandstone and the skeleton of the huge creature was exposed. Block after block of the stone was removed bringing with it parts of the skeleton. The boys were unable to return in 1956 but they came back in 1957 to complete the job. They were working on a creek which drained the southern slopes of Pikes Peak.

A flash flood washed away a part of their specimen and they were unable to find the head of the beast but George Whitaker, museum expert of New York, declared the boys have done an astonishing piece of work. He pointed out that some of the blocks they removed weighed 6,000 pounds and presented a problem which some experts would never have tried. They excavated a wide area attempting to find the head of the huge lizard but all they discovered was an ancient turtle and a crocodile. Thus the museum workers who are experts on restoration were obliged to build a "scientifically fictitious head". This head, mounted on the neck, has arrived at the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. The mounting of the bones and the reconstruction of lost parts is being carried forward and it is hoped that the complete dinosaur will be on display by 1961.

The boys in this story performed a remarkable feat and their work probably suggests one of the best ways to avoid juvenile delinquency. We do not mean that all young boys should be out digging up dinosaur bones but it is possible to catch the interest of teenage boys and focus it upon some worthwhile investigation associated with their school work. If there is sufficient physical activity and the trappings of adventure connected with it, it may hold their interest for several years.

The Ill Wind Blows—

The bloody battles and the threat of more that have been in the uneasy air between India and the two parts of Pakistan may be nearing an end. Oddly enough the catalyst may be the Red Chinese rumbling on India's eastern border.

When the two countries achieved their independence from Great Britain, the fighting between the Hindus and Moslems was hideous. Families fleeing to the sanctuary of one or the other of the countries were butchered on the roads. Homes were burned and belongings stolen. There probably is nothing so repelling as a religious war and the sincere leaders of both Pakistan and India seemed to be completely unable to stop the atrocities.

Since that time there has been a state of armed truce between the two nations with the conflict over the ownership of the lovely state of Kashmir simmering and unsolved. But today Pakistanis have become increasingly aware of their nearness to the giant Soviet Union. And even Nehru is alarmed about Red Chinese encroachments upon India.

The first solid step in settlements was an agreement reached two months ago over the status of 2,500 miles of border between India and East Pakistan. Now a new agreement covering 1,500 more miles has been negotiated with detailed rules for settling disputes. Means have been outlined to stop the extensive smuggling which was a sore point with both countries. Border post commanders must meet monthly, while armed personnel are not to approach within 150 yards of the boundary lines.

The matter of Kashmir has not even been mentioned and its settlement will take some doing. But with the fetid breath of Communists within and without getting ever more foul, the Indians and Pakistanis seem determined to solve their own immediate problems as soon as possible.

What Others are Saying

We're Verbing Nouns, Commit Syntaxicide

From The Christian Science Monitor

We have in the past raised forlorn and piteous objections to the growing tendency to turn any and every noun in the English language into a verb.

But the onslaught continues. We are being verbed (or is it nouned?) to the point of committing syntaxicide ourselves.

Some months ago, it seemed certain that the verb-making process had peaked when an amusement page editor in a large eastern city committed this sentence to print: "Michael Rennie, in the role of a debonair man-about-town, gifts Barbara Rush with a necklace..." Those who said the four-minute-mile could never be achieved will recognize our surprise when last week we came upon this even more tricky gem embedded deep in the ore of a TV review: "Jimmy Rodgers' brief singing number was good and he again showed to advantage in the closing number when he duetted 'Mary Is a Grand Old Name' with Miss Powell."

Most grammarians have long been resigned to "solo" as a verb. But how does a single person duet? Would the same reviewer report that Isaac Stern had symphonized Brahms' Double Concerto with Rostropovich and the members of the N. Y.

Philharmonic? Or that Cal Tjader had comboed with his band?

Admittedly, in the long growth of the English tongue scores of necessary verbs have been fashioned out of nouns. But why draft unnecessary or misleading ones like "duetted" or redundant ones like "gifts" ("gives" works quite nicely, thank you)?

Cerbs, like taxes, are seldom revoked. We'd prefer to confine the creation of new ones to useful purposes. It would pure the language to do so.

More About Drainage, Sewers, Services in City of Neenah

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Citizens of Neenah — What do we have as officials and appointees of the city of Neenah?

The sewer and sanitary systems are the fault of previous administrations.

The grading of lawns are the fault of private citizens. The air pollution is the fault of people living in certain areas.

In a sense, they are right. The ballot box is the place to correct these conditions and the people haven't been too interested in the ballot box in the past. I hope they are awakening to some degree because of situations arising lately.

Some years ago I lived on Reddin avenue and moved because of possible flooding conditions. The area generally sloped to the slough and the portion of Reddin avenue between Cleveland and Madison followed the general grade of the area.

Last year the city completed Baldwin street from Cecil street to Winnebago avenue on a fairly level grade without regard to the low dip in Reddin avenue. The city also failed to provide culverts under Baldwin street to drain the low areas between that street and Reddin avenue which had perfect natural drainage. It is because of this disregard of proper drainage that the large body of standing water exists and not the fault of the people in that area.

Wayne Bryan, our director of public works, said it may have been the result of filling in the slough. Regardless, if he did his job properly, the drainage problem would have been taken care of when Baldwin street was extended. In the last council meeting he stated that he couldn't do anything without the council providing money and that he was a poor salesman. He possibly shouldn't have the job he holds because if he was performing his duties as he should, he should be able to convince the council of his problems and thereby get the money he needs for proper grading, street installations, etc.

There are instances where grade elevations were changed or wrong elevations given by the city engineer between the time a basement is excavated and footings and basement walls poured, making it impossible to come up to grade of the neighboring houses. When this condition exists, neither the mayor, council nor the director of public works has the right to say the fault lies with the individual property owner. We need to have things performed now; officials cannot shirk responsibilities by blaming someone in the past.

One way to help to partially relieve flooding conditions is for anyone having these problems install their own sump pumps (far cheaper than if the city did it) which would result in lesser expense of future enlarged sanitary and storm sewer systems.

Another thought: the consultants the council hires to make a survey of our storm and sanitary sewer systems should be complete outsiders unfamiliar with our present system and not firms who have had anything to do with the installation, additions and connections of our sewer system in the past.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I should like to reply to my very good friend Mayor Chester Bell's answer to my 4-point program regarding the sewerage charges to Lakeview division of Kimberly-Clark Corp.

I'm sure, that Mayor Bell, being an attorney can think deeper than the surface. I'm certain this must be done in this case. This matter of running a community is as much a competitive business as running a foundry, papermill, mercantile establishment, etc. When one chooses to set up business or live in a given community he should expect to live with what that community has to offer.

Let us look at what Lakeview Mill would be going without if it was not drawing on the facilities of the City of Neenah. They are as follows: Sewerage disposal, city fire protection, city water supply. In the cases of sanitary sewerage disposal and city fire protection they are paying much, much less, per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, than any citizen within the City of Neenah.

Now, let me say again, put my four point program into operation and the tax rate of

Governor Gambled in 'Go Home' Message

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—If it is accepted that Gov. Nelson's disgusted advice to the legislature to go home was inevitable, it also must be conceded that the argument he made in his speech was a careful and ingenious one.

The governor, like all politicians who get anywhere in this state, has a keen appreciation of the mechanics and the uses of publicity and knows, moreover, that a state executive has a considerable publicity advantage over the amorphous legislature.

He exploited that knowledge to the fullest in his angry speech to the legislature, perhaps the last speech he will make to the 1959 legislature. The legislature was a do nothing institution, dominated by a hard core of jealous, stupid and reactionary state senators wearing the Republican label. He had tried his utmost to work out compromises of their differences. Each of them had been stubbornly resisted or ignored. He had invited further talks, and was spurned. Now he had done all that he humanly could and the initiative in the later session in the spring would properly belong to the Republican enemy.

It was a good, even an artful, example of political argument, showing that Gov. Nelson and his staff have learned the lessons of their considerable experience in the political battle arena.

It reminded some observers of the last time that a governor publicly repudiated a legislature that didn't see merit in all of his program and appealed to the court of public opinion for vindication.

Gaylord Nelson was already a politician, although a young one, when Phil LaFollette nearly a quarter of a century ago also had his troubles with a recalcitrant state senate, consisting of some Democrats as well as Republicans. LaFollette was even more tempestuous. He threatened to stomp the districts of the unfriendly senators and did so in a couple of cases. He talked about recall petitions.

But nothing much happened. In the next election LaFollette himself was repudiated at the polls and some of the legislators who were such bitter targets survived to serve in many succeeding legislatures.

The present governor is trying to make the point that the Republican senate is endangering the continuity of state services by refusing to endorse his budget program, and more particularly, his revenue program.

It may be, however, that the public impression that is fairly blurred today may clear up a little later, and especially since there will be another round of legislative explosions in the spring and summer when the electorate may be more attentive. Factually, the quarrel about Nelson's second year budget revision is a technical one. The difference mathematically considered between the Democratic budget bill and the Republican version which has become law is infinitesimal.

THE HEART

The heart of the dispute is how much taxes should be raised, how, and when. Telling the voters that he wants to raise taxes and accusing his foes of not wanting to do so may be a frail reed for the governor in his stumping tours.

Gov. Nelson says that when the legislature returns in the spring it will be required to raise taxes, in one way or another, whether the tax revision commission report is available or not. Then the responsibility will be the Republicans', he says.

But will it, any more than it would be today? Suppose the Republicans bring out, when the time comes, a revenue bill that was one of those offered by the Democratic governor earlier? Who will be blamed, and especially when it becomes clearer that the Republicans managed, for political purposes or otherwise, to hold total expenditures down so that the tax increase will be more moderate than otherwise could have been hoped for?

It is wearying, confounding and frustrating dispute, in which the merits may not be as clear as the governor suggests.

New U.S., Japanese Treaty Will Bring End to Japan's Neutrality

Tokyo—The new military alliance of Japan and the United States will bring them into a partnership which should end any possibility of Japanese neutrality in the 1950s.

The new security pact, signed Jan. 19, at Washington is viewed here as a firm commitment for America to defend Japan and continue containment of communism in this sector of the globe.

No official versions of the treaty have been released, but it is expected to provide for retaining U. S. land, sea and air bases in Japan at least 10 years.

Economic Overtones
It reportedly has economic overtones that can link the United States and Japan in an international association with as much potential in Asia as the historic teamwork of the United States and Britain in Europe.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi has virtually staked his political career on successful conclusion of the treaty. He and foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama are going to Washington to sign the pact, along with a new administrative agreement spelling out the rules under which U. S. forces are stationed here, and one or more protocols. These replace similar agreements signed Sept. 8, 1951, along with the San Francisco peace treaty that restored Japan's sovereignty after World War II.

Only one major hurdle remains—ratification by a Japanese parliament divided over whether Japan should be neutral in the cold war or aligned with the west, as represented by the security pact.

Prime Minister Kishi's ruling liberal-Democrats have 290 seats in the house of representatives, far more than the simple majority of 234 needed to ratify. The opposition socialists, who want to abrogate the pact, holds 165 seats.

Ratification is expected but only after stormy debate when the pact is submitted, probably late this month.

Its chances have been strengthened by a Japanese supreme court ruling Dec. 16 that American bases in Japan are legal.

Not Mutual

The treaty, as disclosed so far in parliamentary questioning, consists of a preamble and 10 articles. It pledges both nations to: settle international disputes peacefully in accordance with United Nations principles, cooperate economically, develop capabilities to resist armed attack and retaliate in case of a armed attack on either in territory under Japan's administration.

The defense arrangement is not mutual, however. Japan would not have to come to America's aid if an attack were launched against American territory.

Either party reportedly will have the right to terminate the pact after 10 years by giving a year notification.

The main controversies revolve around Japan's fears the U. S. bases could drag it into war. Socialists and some liberal Democrats have asked repeatedly:

"Will Japan have the power to veto deployment of U. S. troops from Japan to trouble spots outside Japan, and to stop introduction of some arms into Japan, such as nuclear weapons?

How Much Freedom
"How far can American forces go after they leave Japan? Could they attack the Soviet Union or Red China?"

"Does the treaty commit Japan to use its own self defense forces outside Japan?"

Foreign Minister Fujiyama has stated the treaty requires "prior consultation" before troop deployment or introduction of new weapons; America could not act unilaterally. He has never said Japan would have an outright veto.

Fujiyama has denied Japan would be required to use its own troops outside Japan.

There has been speculation America will give up a great deal in the new agreements. Special exit, entry and customs privileges for GIs may be curtailed and Japan's present required contributions to support of U. S. forces ended.

U. S. policies have played a major role in building Japan's prosperity. These include U. S. troop yen purchases and offshore contracts here that have put $500 million annually into the Japanese economy, and the opening of U. S. markets to an increasing flow of Japanese goods. Japan's exports to America jumped from $180 million in 1951 to an estimated $900 million in 1959.

Name County Chairman for Cancer Drive

Mrs. David Gallaher, 1430

Potato Point road, has been selected general chairman of the American Cancer society's 1960 April Crusade in Outagamie county.

The goal for last year was $16,500. Funds are used to support a program of re-Mrs. Gallaher search, education, and service. The goal for this year has not yet been set.

Mrs. Gallaher, a native of Appleton, is a charter member of the Benefit Circle of the King's Daughters, a board member of the Community Blood center, has been a co-chairman of the residential drive and a worker on the Mother's March for polio. She also serves as chairman of

Climbing Toddlers Rarely Suffer Serious Injuries

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D. at work so much of the time and don't see all the bumps that a climbing toddler takes.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am the mother of a climbing toddler, and am concerned about head bumps. Just how does a child react if there is any danger of concussion or other serious injury? What areas of the head are most vulnerable if struck, and what treatment should be administered until you can get your doctor?—Mrs. B.

Probably most mothers worry about this. So do most fathers, although perhaps not as often because they are volunteers for the Outagamie county unit of the American Cancer society.

all parts of his anatomy, but he will rarely if ever land full force on his head. A bump on the head is one thing; landing with the full force of the fall on his head is quite another.

I would be more concerned over injury to the neck than to the head. I'd be more concerned over the scrapes, scratches and bruises than I would over any chance that a climbing toddler would do any damage to his head.

Vulnerable Spot
In a small child, the top of the head, until the soft spot hardens, is the most vulnerable point—but it is hard to see how a tumbling child could land on that spot. He falls in a sprawling tangle of arms, legs and small anatomy! When he is old enough to do any serious climbing, the skull is hardening, and he his share of falls, but he will be active enough to break his

50 Killed as Plane Crashes in Dense Fog

The wife and stepson of a pilot for another airline, Mary Blanche O'Connell and Troy Woodall Durham, 10.

The plane, Capital Flight 20, was en route from Chicago to Norfolk via Washington. It left Washington at 9:45 p.m. and the pilot, Capt. James B. Fornasero, 50, a veteran of almost 20 years of airline flying, made a routine radio check with the Norfolk tower while over Tappahannock. He was due at Norfolk at 10:30 p.m.

Heard Plane

Then at 10:20 p.m. farmer Robert H. Tench heard the plane circling over his home, 50 miles northwest of Norfolk. It made one pass overhead, too low, Tench thought, but "not so severe." Then a minute or so later—"long enough to read a few sentences in my book" it came over again. This time the house shook. "The third time he came over, the motors were wide open. Then she hit. The noise just stopped. . . When I heard

A Dejected Daniel Bajula waits while deputies hack-saw him free to get back in his cell. Bajula, 25, Brainerd, Minn., was being held on a robbery charge and tried to escape from the county jail at Little Falls, Minn. He smeared his body with hair cream and then tried to slip through a 6-inch by 2-foot opening used to hand prisoners their meals. It was a tight squeeze but Bajula's hips stalled him. Then he couldn't get back because his chest expanded. Deputy sheriff Ovid Doucette stands by while another deputy inside wields the hacksaw.

Youth Research Worker Killed

New York — Mrs. Eugene Gilbert, 25, a passenger on the Capital Airliner which crashed in dense fog in Virginia last night, was a partner with her husband in youth research work.

Gilbert's brother-in-law, Moreson Kaplan, said today that Gilbert had personally seen his wife aboard the ill-fated plane at Washington, D.C.

Gilbert then boarded another plane for New York City. He landed at Idlewild airport and was driving into Manhattan when he heard of the crash in his auto radio.

Gilbert, who operates a private research firm under his name at 250 E. Forty-second street, writes a column, "What Young People Think," for the Associated Press. His column is published periodically in the Appletan Post-Crescent.

Morgue Set Up

About daybreak the last blaze flickered out and when the wreckage was cool enough the gruesome task of removing the bodies began.

The navy bureau of medicine and surgery sent a team to the scene to examine and help identify the navy victims.

A temporary morgue was set up in Richmond.

"It's mostly a matter of identification from personal items," said Charles P. Cardwell, director of the medical college of Virginia hospital at Richmond. "The last I heard there were only three or four bodies — in the forward part of the airplane — that were recognizable."

See Hope For Early Independence

London — Turkish Foreign Minister Fatih Rustu Zorlu expressed hope today that snags delaying independence for Cyprus will be overcome within the next two months.

"We hope that everything will be all right, and that they will make the necessary progress in due time," said Zorlu who represented Turkey at a 3-day conference on the Mediterranean island's future. He spoke to newsmen at the airport as he boarded a plane for Ankara.

French West Africa University Honors Wisconsin Professor

Madison — Farrington Daniels, a retired University of Wisconsin chemistry professor, has been cited by the University of Dakar for his work in solar energy and will be the first American to receive an honorary degree from the French West African institution.

Wisconsin officials announced the award Monday, which was accepted at Daniels' behest by the American consul in Dakar.

Daniels still pursues his solar energy research in a university laboratory.

World Condition Report Given

Washington — Allen W. Dulles, director of the central intelligence agency, has given the senate foreign relations committee a secret report on world conditions that doesn't "gloss over the hard facts of life."

"It was far from relaxing," said Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) after the closed door briefing Monday. "I do not see how a policy of defense cutbacks can be reconciled with the intelligence report to which I have just been listening."

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) added, "We've got our hands full — there's no question about that."

None of the committee members would give any details. Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said the report didn't gloss over the facts of life "like some have done in their public statements. . . he gave us a much more reliable report than what can be gotten in a public appearance."

Soviets Call U. S. Budget Disappointment

London — A Soviet broadcast today called President Eisenhower's new budget a disappointment because it made no cut in military allocations.

"This comes at a time when the Soviet Union once again slashes its military spending," said Moscow radio.

Despite the widely trumpeted Soviet claims, the demobilization announced by Premier Nikita Khrushchev last week will by Soviet admission bring the Soviet armed forces down to only a little less than American levels.

Khrushchev said after 1,200,000 men are demobilized in the next year or two, the Soviet Union will have 2,323,000 men in uniform. The U. S. defense department last month estimated the strength of the U. S. armed forces at 2,500,817.

Khrushchev further assured the supreme soviet that the Soviet Union has the strongest arsenal of nuclear weapons in the world.

Moscow radio's English-language commentary, which was beamed to North America, claimed the U. S. budget showed no tendency to "clear the world's climate." It said: "On the contrary, it shows that certain cold war interests are trying to freeze the war still colder and to maintain the high level of arms racing."

Democrats to Attempt to Alter Budget

nearly six months before the fiscal year ends.

Most of the Republicans sounded the election year note that Eisenhower was providing sufficient funds to maintain the essential economic growth of the country.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a Democratic presidential hopeful, challenged this contention in a speech in Milwaukee last night. He said Eisenhower policies had stunted economic growth for seven years.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) said that in addition to making "ample provision for all necessary government functions," Eisenhower's most significant proposal was to spend $8,400,000,000 on various kinds of research and development. Previous expenditures in this field have been another target of Democratic political attack.

Economy Effort

Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the house GOP leader, said the Republicans' biggest challenge will come "in holding the line against added spending which would wreck all hope for a balanced budget, let alone a surplus."

However, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the conference of all GOP senators, predicted the Democrats would huff and puff but wouldn't be able to change the president's recommendations very much.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) and Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) said Eisenhower is

Morse Candidate for Democratic Electors

Washington — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) says he's a serious candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

If he doesn't get it, Morse said Monday, his first choice for the nomination would be Adlai E. Stevenson. Twice defeated, Stevenson has said he's not running again.

Morse has entered presidential primaries in Oregon and the district of Columbia. He said he would be "a candidate in any state—north, east, south or west — whenever the people of that state call me. And I can assure them there'll be no evasions, no side-stepping, no double-talk. I shall discuss the issues as I factually know them."

Second Grade Girl Dies Under Bus Wheels

Lynchburg, Va. — Triumph turned to tragedy in one terrible instant here Monday for little Vickie Bybee, 7-year-old second-grader, had gotten 100 on a test and could hardly wait to get off the homeward-bound bus and tell her parents about it.

Stepping out the rear entrance of the bus, Vickie caught her foot in the door. The heavy bus, its driver unaware of the child's trouble, pulled away from the curb. Vickie died under the wheels.

The spender, Byrd, who heads the senate finance committee, said the president was proposing a billion dollar increase in domestic civilian outlays. Cannon, who heads the house appropriations committee, said any surplus will come out of revenue increases, not spending cuts.

Nixon to File In Wisconsin

at the state Republican rally in Milwaukee on Feb. 8 which is the usual observance of Lincoln day.

The state will elect delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions in April. The outlook is for a contest for the Democratic delegates, with perhaps three aspirants competing here.

Wisconsin law requires presidential candidates to signify their aspirations in order to enter a state of delegate candidates pledged to them. The deadline for such a filing of a declaration is March 4.

With his road clear to a nomination, Nixon is being advised to remain on duty in Washington and to permit his supporters to manage his campaign here.

A campaign vehicle has already been organized and is now on a stand-by basis. It will probably swing into action when the vice president gives the signal with a filing of a declaration with the Wisconsin secretary of state, expected late in February.

Incendiary Missiles Dropped on Cane Fields

Havana — The newspaper Revolution said today two light planes based in Florida dropped incendiary missiles on two sugar cane fields in north central Cuba last night.

The semi-official newspaper said the missiles, identified as marine distress flares, started some fires. Some missiles fell on private homes but

Navy Officer Goes to War—With the Birds

Philadelphia — Vice Adm. Raymond J. Mauerman (USN, ret.) is at war with the birds.

Mauerman is the deputy commissioner of public property.

Recently he hung wartime surplus submarine nets on the city's courtyard entrances to keep thousands of pigeons from flying in.

But the admiral apparently lost his battle with the pigeons. Like everybody else, they now walk into the courtyard entrances.

Thus Mauerman turned his tactical attention to the thousands of starlings which roost above the city hall courtyard at dusk. They perch around a sixth-floor ledge and make a massive nuisance of themselves with their incessant noise and untidy habits.

Monday Mauerman launched his campaign with his own secret weapon — noise.

He sent two assistants to the eighth-floor roof with a 16-gauge sawed-off shotgun filled with blank ammunition. They fired away for about 15 minutes in efforts to scare the birds away. The sound boom- ed over Penn Square.

The starlings swooped off in a body into the darkening sky. When it was all over, they swooped back.

The only casualties were the operators at the municipal switchboard and alarmed citizens who phoned in wanting to know what was going on.

The fires were quickly put out. Revolution added. The area is about 135 miles east of Havana in Las Villas province.

Furniture Designers Introduce Livable New Concepts for 1960's

Sleek modern designs to more courtly treatments of earlier periods are being featured by furniture designers to help homemakers — whether experienced or brides-to-be — plan home decorating schemes.

To help solve some of the mystery of furniture shopping, a basic glossary of furniture terms has been compiled. The words period, style and fashion have often mistakenly been used interchangeably, however, period is the time of design — the specific historical era with which the furniture can be identified by actual age.

Style indicates timelessness — good anywhere at any time. Fashion means today's trend and may include utilitarian features, such as dual purpose pieces or fabric and treatments.

Solid wood furniture pieces are early American — traditionally made from maple, cherry or birch. However, the overwhelming majority of fine furniture is made of veneered hardwood plywood for greater strength, resistance to warping and for beauty. Only veneered plywood makes possible the curved provincial drawer fronts, the flowing design of the grand piano and fluid lines of modern design.

Grain indicates the size and arrangement of the living wood's pores and is most often denoted by the annual ring growth. Birch is fine-grained; walnut, medium-grained, and oak, coarse-grained. Figure in woods indicates other qualities — such as mottles, waves, burls and butts.

Modern Finishes

Finish beautifies and preserves fine hardwood. Today's modern finishes begin with bleaching or staining the wood to create the desired color — which explains the various tones in which walnut, birch or mahogany is sold. The stain sinks into the wood pores to give depth and a glaze seals the color permanently.

The most popular finish — a close-to-the-wood coating gives the most importance to the wood's natural grain. The actual wood used in furniture should be designated and "walnut finish" might mean a photographic copy of walnut grain on a substitute material or may be a walnut wood on a cheaper base.

Inlay is generally a trim, with a wood such as ebony set into a groove to provide an exotic note. Parquetry is the arrangement of wood pieces in a geometric form, such as squares or herringbone strips. Marquetry is the illustrative use of woods in larger art forms — and is sometimes seen in cabinet doors, table tops and other large surfaces where importance can be given to wood figures.

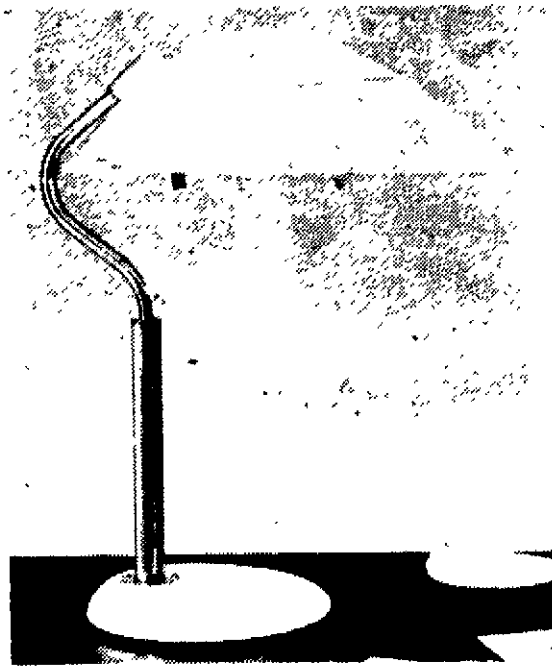

Some exotic woods are ebony, a deep black; amaranth, which ranges from purple to blood red, and rosewoods from China and India are pinkish in color with a tantalizing rose aroma. Amboyna is deep brown or dark brown. The rare and lovely pieces are imported and expensive — usually chosen to accent furniture pieces.

A Man's Chest with tray space partitioned to provide shirt, tie and sock storage space was designed by Barney Flagg. The piece's simple, sleek lines are characteristic of new furniture styles.

This Extravagantly Generous chair has a 32-inch wide oval seat and is virtually wider than it is high—inviting its occupant to relax and curl up. The loose back cushion can be pulled around to any position against the chair's barrel back. The sturdy, well-balanced screen comes in panels with a woven cane base and serves as a room divider.

This Desk Lamp designed by Gerald Thurston is precision engineered for scientific control of task light and has a unique one-piece diffuser-reflector. A universal swivel rotates the reflector 350 degrees for adjustment of the lamp to job demands. The shade and base are white and the metal shaft is polished brass.

Flavor Yams With Butter, Honey

Lots of butter and honey to taste make mashed sweet potatoes taste especially delicious. Pile the mashed yams into a pie plate and heat and brown in the oven or under the broiler. Nice with chicken, ham or turkey.

Your Problems

Husband Regrets Past Mistakes; Seeks Advice on Clearing Self

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Don't give me heck, just give me advice on how to get out of this mess.

I'm a married man who foolishly got mixed up with a widow who works in the same office. She's 10 years older than I am and has a nice income in addition to her salary. Her husband left her well fixed.

When we first started to go out she told me she was lonely and willing to pay for the pleasure of my company. She picked up the dinner checks and cocktail tabs. I told my wife I had a second job four nights a week. This woman gave me $80 every Friday so I could bring home an extra pay check.

Now I'm tired of this phony set-up and find it hard to look my wife and kids in the eye. The woman says if I drop her she'll tell my wife everything. Also she claims I will be forced by law to pay her $960 which is what she has given me. Please tell me what to do.—Numbskull.

Dear Numbskull: Don't let this woman blackmail you. Tell your wife everything. If she doesn't throw you out on your head you're luckier than you deserve. Stop seeing Mrs. Gotrocks at once and let her know you've resigned as her gigolo. I'm no lawyer but it's my off-hand opinion that she would have a difficult time getting back money which was payment for your company.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old son is a senior in high school. He's an excellent student, also a card shark, which worries me. His dad says there's no harm in a young boy playing cards, and I can see where it's a good social outlet. But when he wins as much as $30 in a poker game with classmates I think it's terrible.

In addition to the large amounts of money involved, I don't approve of high school kids staying up till 4:30 and 5 a.m. playing cards. They did this at our house last Saturday and I was at a loss as to what to do. Advise me please.—Lucky's Mom.

Dear Mom: A card game in which a 17-year-old can win $30 isn't a fun pastime—it's gambling. And the stakes are much too high.

You'll have a tough time getting your son to throw in the deck if he enjoys the game and is an expert at it. Suggest there be a limit on how much a player can win or lose, and tell him no card-playing after 1 a.m. Let's hope this is just a phase.

DEAR ANN: I've been married almost a year and have three daughters by a former marriage. The children see their father every week and are fond of him.

My daughter, aged 10, asked what she should call her step-father as she's uncomfortable calling him by his first name. She claims it doesn't sound nice in front of friends.

She says she can't call him "Daddy" because this name is reserved for her real father. The other children are seven and five and they call their step-father by his first name as they imitate the oldest one. Can you suggest something?—Uppa Tree.

Dear Uppa: Since the real dad is "Daddy" why not call the step-father "Pop"? If the oldest one starts the younger ones will follow and the problem will be neatly solved for one and all. (Copyright, 1960)

Miss Jo Ann Gehl Tell Troth of Jo Ann Gehl, J. V. Sterling

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gehl, route 1, Brillion, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jo Ann, to Joseph V. Sterling. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Sterling, El Paso, Texas.

Miss Gehl is a graduate of Kaukauna High school and St. Vincent School of Pediatric Nursing, Chicago. She is employed as a private duty nurse in Chicago.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Austin High school, El Paso, and attended Texas Western college. He received his bachelor of science degree from the Institute of Design of Illinois Institute of Technology and is now working on his master's degree at the institute. He is a free-lance photographer for Container corporation of America.

Players Will be Honored

The Canadian Players, who are giving two performances at the Lawrence college Music-Drama center Wednesday, will be guests of honor of Mrs. John Duval, 506 E. Atlantic street, for cocktails and dinner between shows.

Mrs. Duval is a personal friend of Mervyn Blake, one of the male leads in the 17-member production, and his wife. According to Mrs. Duval, she has often been a guest of the Blakes in Toronto, most recently during Queen Elizabeth's visit there last summer.

Other stars on the program include Max Helpmann as Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew" and Lopahin in "The Cherry Orchard." Jacqueline Barnett as Mme. Ranyevskaia; and Tudi Wiggins as both Katherina and Varia in the two plays.

August Date Chosen by Lawrentians

Planning an August wedding are Miss Anita Kay Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Hansen, Glenview, Ill., and David A. Kopplin. He is the son of Mrs. Kopplin, Evanston, Ill., and the late Carl G. Kopplin.

Miss Hansen, a student at Lawrence college, is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Her fiancé received his bachelor of arts degree from Lawrence college where he was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta. He is employed in Chicago.

Mix Butter, Dry Mustard, Cheese For Tasty Spread

Soften butter with the back of a wooden spoon worked against the sides of a bowl; add a pinch of dry mustard and finely grated Swiss cheese. Turn into an attractive small container and top with finely chopped parsley. Serve with crisp crackers and tomato juice for a first course.

Mothers' Club Plans Meeting

The Mothers' club of the First Methodist church will hold its meeting at 8 p. m. Jan. 26 in the social union room. The hostess will be Mrs. Robert Knox.

Dr. Ralph Alton will give the program. He will speak on "How the Methodist Church Teaches Its Children."

Canadian Players Will Visit College

A cast of Canada's outstanding performers will arrive in Appleton Wednesday for two shows at the Lawrence Music-Drama center as part of the Festival Year celebration.

"The Cherry Orchard" by Anton Chekhov at 2:30 p.m. will feature Max Helpmann as Lopahin; Jacqueline Barnett as Mme. Ranyevskaia; and Tudi Wiggins as Varia. Stars of "The Taming of the Shrew" at 8:15 p.m. include Mervyn Blake as Baptista; Tudi Wiggins as Katherina; Max Helpmann as Petruchio; and John Gardiner as Hortensio. Director is Dennis Carey, former director of the Bristol Old Vic and the American Shakespeare theater at Stratford, Conn.

Last Play
"The Cherry Orchard" was Chekhov's last play before his death. It is set in the home of Mme. Ranyevskaia, a widow. She has left the estate with its beautiful cherry orchard to go to Paris for five years to forget the tragic drowning of her son. On her return, she discovers that the estate is to be sold to pay back taxes.

A wealthy landowner, Lopahin, tries to convince her that she should cut down the orchard and put up villas to save the home. She refuses, but estate eventually is sold at auction to Lopahin, whose men start to cut down the cherry orchard.

Lighthearted Story
The Shakespearean comedy which provided the inspiration for "Kiss Me Kate" is "The Taming of the Shrew." It is the lighthearted story of a man with three daughters, who refuses permission to the younger to wed until the old husband. To the scene comes Petruchio, an older man, looking for a wife. He is persuaded to woo and win Kate and the ensuing courtship is the tale of his taming of this shrewish maid.

Tickets for both performances are available at the Music-Drama center box office between 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

Gray—Symbol of Youth—Sets Tone for Spring

BY PETER GROSE

London—Norman Hartnell, dressmaker to the queen, set the tone for the opening of the London spring and summer fashion shows Monday by saying grandmother's gray now is the symbol of youth.

London's chic designers opened their semi-annual presentations in a Bond street salon tastefully bursting with the newest creations in accessories.

This season's smart color is society gray, a pale beige-gray that seems to go with anything.

"As a shoe color gray is less enlarging than white," said Hardy Amies, one of London's poshest designers. "Gray used to be the prerogative of grandmothers," observed Hartnell. "Now it has graduated to the younger generation."

Butlers smoothly maneuvered their silver trays of champagne among the hundreds of invited guests in the modern baroque rooms of Rayne house, where the associate members of the Incorporated society of London Fashion designers presented their 1960 creations.

Press Guests Whiffs of lavender greeted the trade and press guests as they earnestly studied the displays of milliners, furriers and fabric houses.

Aage Thaarup, the royal milliner, showed his light and airy hats to be worn forward on the nose.

"Women are tired of wearing pudding basins," he declared.

Belts are wider this season, and necklaces narrower. Gloves seem to be climbing farther and farther up the arm, according to Dents of Worcester who ought to know—they've been making gloves since 1775.

Monday's show was a curtain-raiser for the main event today, when London's dress designers started introducing what the well-dressed woman with the English flair will be wearing.

A lively topic of conversation was the plan to show London's fashion creations in the heart of Paris at the end of the month.

"It's a daring idea but I really think it will pay off," said one designer. "We'll catch those American buyers in a receptive mood. We just have to live down this traditional drivel that we in England show a lack of taste."

Dutch Treat Should be Understood

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: When I ask a friend to lunch with me (not as my guest) how can I get her to pay her share of the bill. When the waiter hands me the check very often this friend takes it for granted that I am the hostess and makes no attempt to offer her share of the bill. This can be very embarrassing. Is there a tactful way to get around this?

Answer: If you say, "Will you lunch with me?" you are definitely the hostess and must pay the check. "Let's lunch together" means that you each pay your share, and if the check is brought to you, it is entirely proper to tell your friend how much it is and ask her for her share.

Out of Place

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother and his wife are having their 25th wedding anniversary soon and are going to take all the family out to dinner. My sister may have a house guest at that time and she insists it is only proper to invite her guest. As the party is strictly a family gathering, I do not think it is necessary to ask her house guest, who is practically a stranger to the rest of the family, to this party. Am I not right?

Answer: A stranger would indeed be out of place at your family gathering and if possible your sister should put off the visit of her friend until after the anniversary. If she cannot do this, she will have to find something for her house guest to do the evening of the dinner as it would be most inhospitable to leave her alone.

No Obligation

Dear Mrs. Post: We have received a wedding invitation (including reception) from out-of-town friends. We are not going, and wondered in that case if sending a wedding present is required. Will you please advise us as we have had many conflicting opinions.

Answer: A gift should not be prompted by the invitation to a wedding but because of your personal friendship

AHS Oratory Contest Set

Five Will Speak Wednesday; Vie For Heiss Award

Five Appleton High school students will take part in the Heiss oratorical recital Wednesday in the AHS auditorium. The students, all seniors except one, are William Barney, Robert Recker, Larry Speel, Mary Urban and Dave Prosser, a junior.

Each of the participants has chosen his own subject and written his own oration, directed by Kenneth Sager, oratory coach.

Prosser will talk on Fidel Castro. He has called his oration "Fidel, the Infidel: Danger on America's Doorstep."

Varied Topics

There will be two speeches on the problems of living. One by Barney is called "Living in a Rut," and the one by Miss Urban, "To Have or Not to Have." Barney's talk will emphasize habit as a boon and a curse in living, while Miss Urban's will urge everyone to take a stand on values of living.

"The Teenager" by Speel will review the virtues and sins of teenagers seen by adults and themselves.

"Black and White" by Recker will present arguments about segregation. Recker makes a plea for common sense and logic.

This recital is held each year in honor of William B. Heiss who was the first AHS student to give his life in World war I.

Each participant will receive the official forensic pin from H. H. Heible, principal. The winner usually participates in American Legion oratorical contests.

Pat O'Brien Series Booked for Fall Start

Groucho Marx to Play Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner, in 'Mikado' Adaptation

BY JINGO

Pat O'Brien will star in his first television series, "Harri-gan and Son," starting in the fall on ABC-TV.

He'll portray a widower and lawyer whose son, a recent graduate of Harvard law school, becomes his father's associate.

The series was created by Milwaukee's Cy Howard, who was the creator of the radio series "My Friend Irma" and "Life with Luigi."

Groucho Marx will play Ko-Ko, the lord high executioner, in a 1-hour version of "The Mikado," which will be telecast on "The Telephone Hour" Friday, April 29. It will be the first time the quip master has appeared in a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

Yal Brynner's visits to refugee centers in Europe, the Middle East and the Orient will be presented, a la Danny Kaye, on CBS-TV this spring. It'll be part of the "CBS Reports" series.

Tom Tyron, who stars as Texas John Slaughter for "Walt Disney Presents," will be the grand marshal of the St. Paul, Minn., Festival of Snows parade during the 1960 version of the annual winter carnival Saturday, Jan. 30 "Walt Disney Folklore" is the parade theme.

Stephen Boyd, star of the movie, "Ben-Hur," makes his television debut in "To the Sound of Trumpets," the Tuesday, Feb. 8, "Play-house 90" special. It's a love story played against the battlefields of WWI. Co-starred will be Dolores Hart, Dame Judith Anderson, Boris Karloff and Robert Coote. The show will be the first "90" drama seen on an evening other than Thurs-day.

Piper Laurie stars in "You Can't Have Everything" on "Steel Hour" next week. She plays a poor workman's wife who faces a bleak future with her unborn child and her weak-willed husband until she reaches a climactic decision.

"The Dark and the Light," an appraisal of the rising tides of nationalism and inde-pendence in South and East Africa, is scheduled Jan. 31 on ABC-TV. The network's news chief, John Daly, will narrate.

Beatrice Lillie, Cyril Ritchard, Tammy Grimes and Tony Randall will han-dle four separate shows within a show Feb. 24 for "Star Parade." It's called "Four for Tonight."

Bob Hope has signed to play the unconventional nar-rator of "Not So Long Ago," BC-TV's "Project 20" show for Feb. 19. The program will re-create the years 1945 to 1950 through fact-film, mu-sic and narration. It was com-piled by the late Fred Allen's commentary on "The Jazz Age."

Danny Thomas has signed Jack Haley as a regular on his Monday night show. Haley will be the father of Pat Har-rington, Jr. Phil Silvers and Polly Bergen will be the name guests for Jack Benny's second special of the season Saturday, March 19. Gin-ger Rogers whirls into a west-ern on the Feb. 4 "Zane Grey Theater" telecast.

Play on Shaw Letters Turns Out to be Hit

Known as Sleeper in Show Business, Unexpected Success

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(U)—"I've been working my fool head off," says Brian Aherne, "All be-cause I got involved with a sleeper."

From the British-born actor, I learned that there are also sleepers on the stage. The term has long been used to Aherne designate modest movies that achieve unexpected success—"Marty," "Champion" and the like.

Aherne wasn't looking for anything like a long run after he finished 15 months in the road company of "My Fair Lady." The producer wanted him to sign on for another five years at a fine salary.

"I couldn't possibly," he said. "If I had stayed with the show any longer, I would have lost my health, my wife, my family. It was absolutely exhausting. I don't under-stand how Rex Harrison was able to do it for two years in New York and one in London."

Aherne limped back to Hol-lywood to marshal his forces. Then he received a call from his longtime co-star, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," Katherine Cornell. She said a talented man named Jer-ome Kilty had put together the correspondence between Mrs. Patrick Campbell and George Bernard Shaw for a reading.

"That sounded like a splendid idea—very easy, too," he re-marked. "I even consulted an eye doctor about whether I could wear contact lenses in-stead of glasses to read with."

Tryout Cheered

When the show was tried out last spring, the actor learned it would be no simple matter of reading from a lec-ture. The adaptation was so adroit that it called for a more dramatic presentation.

The co-stars ended up giv-ing a highly charged rendi-tion of a romance that spanned four decades. The tryout was cheered from Arizona to Florida.

"We suddenly discovered we had a hit on our hands," said Aherne. "None of us ever suspected it. We thought it was something that might go over in academic communi-ties. No it was booked as a concert through Sol Hurok."

Sold Out for Year

"We were scheduled a year ahead to play big college au-ditoriums and 1-nighters; the tickets were already sold. We can't even get into New York until March."

The troupe travels in a land cruiser, a large bus with galley and bunks—"there are no trains any more, and the planes don't make short hops."

The schedule is a back-breaker, but the players can be heartened that such shows are breathing life back into the road, sadly ailing until this season.

Variety even bannered re-cently: "The road, high, wide and B. O." That means box office in show biz lingo.

Two Actresses Will appear with the Canadian Players of Stratford, Ontario, at Lawrence College Music-Drama center Wednesday are Miss Jacqueline Barnett, left, and Miss Tudy Wiggins. Miss Wiggins will play the lead role of Kate in the evening performance of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" and portray Varya in Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard" to be given at 2:30 p.m. Miss Barnett will play Mme. Ranevskia in the Chekhov play. Miss Kate Reid, originally cast in the roles of the shrewish Katherine and Mme. Ranevskia, has left the company.

Your Money's Worth

Wages Up More Than Living Costs

BY SYLVIA PORTER

How have you and your family made out financially during the last 10 years of constantly climbing prices? Have you personally kept ahead of or slipped behind the rising cost of living?

You have made out very well if you're a typical worker living in an American city.

You have kept far ahead of the rising cost of living be-cause your paycheck has jumped much higher than the price level.

You are paying more for just about every type of goods and services you buy, but you have substantially more money with which to pay for the goods and services.

In New York City, for in-stance, the consumer price level has increased 23 per cent since 1950. But weekly has been 26 per cent, the pay-earnings of New York's fac-tory workers have increased! And in the United States as a whole the comparison has been: cost of living up 23 per cent, factory workers' earnings up 50 per cent.

This doesn't indicate the full extent to which the typical worker has climbed up the standard-of-living ladder. Not included in the dollar wage and salary totals are the great gains achieved by employees in these years in terms of shorter workweeks, more paid holidays, much longer vaca-tions, sick leave, hospitaliza-tion, life insurance benefits.

But as Louis F. Buckley, New York regional director for the labor department cau-tioned when I called him to discuss the implications of the statistics, "The factory and office clerical worker repre-sents only part of our popu-lation. Individuals living on fixed incomes and pensions have fallen far behind."

Once this qualification is made, there is no denying that the wage-price comparisons are, in Buckley's words, "most heartening. In terms of his ability to buy more goods and services, the average city factory worker is obviously much better off than a decade ago."

There is more to this tale than a confirmation of our ris-ing living standards. For here, I submit, lies a key ex-planation of why the typical worker is not responding en-thusiastically to the adminis-tration's repeated warnings that he is the big loser in a phase of creeping inflation and that he should help fight back by voluntarily reducing his wage demands. He doesn't feel the loser. On the con-trary, he feels much better off.

As long as the city worker and his family keep ahead of the cost of living rise—and the trend is continuing into 1960—he'll gripe about inflation's evils, but he'll not set off any popular rebellion against creeping price increases in our land.

Stop Gripping, Actor Tells TV Cowpokes

'Wild Bill Hickock' For 9 Years Says Boys are in Clover

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(U)—Guy Mad-ison has some advice for those discontented TV cowpokes: stop griping.

Guy is no older than some of the western stars who are revolting against their con-tracts, yet he's a veteran of the TV range. For nine years he starred as Wild Bill Hic-kok. So his views are worth listening to.

"Those fellows don't know how lucky they are," he ob-served. "Sure, they'd like to be making more money. But most of them were just hang-ing around Hollywood before they landed their roles. They weren't any great shakes in the picture business."

Should Be Thankful

"Now they're getting terrific exposure before the public, they're making good salaries and the studio is taking care of their publicity buildup. Some of them are actors from New York who have never been on a horse before. They should be thankful for what they have and try to make the most of it."

The dissident gunslingers might argue that such talk is okay for Madison because he made his pile from TV. Not true, says Guy.

"Ours was the first film se-ries—the first western, at any rate," he remarked. "Nobody knew that so much money would be in a series, and I signed for a straight salary. But it didn't bother me that I wasn't making a big profit from the series. At least I was earning regularly for a num-ber of years."

Object Lesson

Madison's experience as a producer might also provide an object lesson for other stars. He did four pictures for his own company, but failed to discover a profit.

"I found out the company made a profit of $150,000 for distributing one of my pic-tures, but my end of it showed a loss," he said. "You can't win when they're handling the books."

So now he's loping back into the sage brush with a new TV series, as yet untitled. "It will be more of an adult western than Hickok was," he remark-

Woman Whose Auto Struck Bridge Fined

Kimberly Driver Pleads Guilty of Driving Too Fast

A woman whose car banged into a section of railing on the east end of the new College avenue bridge Monday morning, coming perilously close to falling over onto John street, was fined $25 in municipal court today for driving too fast for conditions.

Mrs. Barbara C. Sachs, 1338 W. Fourth street, Kimberly, pleaded guilty. Her driver's license was revoked for 60 days but Judge Oscar J. Schmiede suspended revocation on condition she is not arrested within a year for a moving traffic violation.

Driving East
Mrs. Sachs was driving east on the bridge when her car skidded across the next lane of traffic, back to her normal lane and struck the railing. A total of seven points, four for the offense and three for the accident, will be assessed against her driving record.

Robert M. Schumacker, 20, route 1, Kaukauna, was fined $75 and his license was revoked for six months when he pleaded guilty of driving too fast for conditions. Schumacker was arrested Jan. 13 after his car skidded out of control on E. Calumet street and struck a utility pole. The revocation was stayed on condition he is not arrested for a moving traffic violation within a year.

Improper Registration
Gordon W. Kain, 38, of 1413 N. Wayne street, was fined $5 for failing to have proper automobile registration.
Keith J. Roberts, 17, of 1405 Crooks avenue, Kaukauna, pleaded guilty of speeding. His driver's license was revoked for 60 days—the last 30 days suspended on condition he attends safety school. Three points will be assessed to his driving record.
Arnold E. Schulz, 68, of 318 N. Onida street, pleaded innocent of improper auto registration. The case was adjourned one week for investigation.

Gasoline Dealers to Study Tax Increase

Discussion of President Eisenhower's proposed increase in gasoline taxes will be the main order of business at a meeting of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association today at Club Terrace.

The group is expected to go on record protesting the increase.

Two of the 18 board members attending the meeting are from Appleton. They are Jerome May, 1734 N. Alvin street, and Robert Malchow, 185 Gardner's row.

Guest speaker is W. P. Marquam, Chicago, trade and relations manager of the Pure Oil company.
New board members for 1961 will be nominated.

Phone Company Employee Honored

LeRoy F. Fox, 1206 W. Parkway boulevard, has been honored by the Wisconsin Telephone company on his 35th anniversary as a telephone employee. He received a diamond service pin. Fox is division sales manager for the company's state division.
The award was presented by M. A. Kassner, general sales manager.

River Project To be Aired

Conservation Unit Sets Public Hearing for Stevens Point

Madison — The Wisconsin Conservation Congress Waters committee will conduct a public hearing Saturday afternoon at the Hardware Mutuals auditorium, Stevens Point. Edward F. Keip will lead discussions on the committee's activities and the Plover water research project.

W. E. Scott, administrative assistant to the director of the state conservation department, will discuss the congress' activities, legislative action, plans of the legislative water resources study committee and the congress' waters committee plans.

Discussing the Plover research project will be Cyril Kabat, conservation department research coordinator; C. Lee Holt, Jr., district U. S. geologist; F. T. Schaefer, district geological engineer; Lewis Pogekey of the conservation department; and Doyle B. Knowles, of the U. S. geological survey.

Eugene F. Kloes

Seeks Fourth Ward County Board Post

Eugene F. Kloes, 203 N. State street, today took out nomination papers for Fourth ward, county board supervisor.

A political newcomer, Kloes operates a sewing machine sales business from his home and last summer was business manager for the Valley Fair amateur baseball team. Incumbent Henry M. Wichmann, 407 N. State, has announced he will seek reelection.

Students to Receive Commissions at UW

Two Appleton students are among the 81 young men who will receive their commissions in the U.S. Army, Navy, or Air Force at ceremonies Saturday at the University of Wisconsin's Memorial union. The students are scheduled to graduate at the close of the first semester of the 1959-60 school year late this month.

Terry R. Thorson, 400 N. Badger avenue, will be commissioned ensign in the navy, and Austin G. Cotton, 1217 N. Gillett street, will be commissioned second lieutenant in the air force.

Bar Association To Meet at Neenah

The Outagamie County Bar association will hold its annual dinner and installation of officers Wednesday evening at the Valley Inn, Neenah. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 and the dinner begins at 7 p.m. Herbert Terwilliger, president of the Wisconsin Bar association, will be guest speaker.

A Section of Railing on the new College avenue bridge is partially uprooted where a car driven by Mrs. Barbara Sachs, 1338 W. Fourth street, Kimberly, ran into it Monday. Appleton police said the railing prevented the car from going over the bridge and dropping onto John street.

Creativity 'Explosion' Urged for Teachers

Industrial Idea Man Literally Flips While Describing Thrill of Developing Concepts

A spidery-fingered man, with graying hair, crew cut and a voice that zooms from soprano to bass in one sentence did a back flip Monday night at Foster school and told 200 Appleton teachers they, too, could explode into creativity.

The man is Lynn Surles, a Milwaukeean, who bills himself as an "industrial consultant—effective expression in industry," but who fills the description "idea man" as well as anyone sporting the gray flannel suit today.

Appleton's Tradition

Surles spoke at the annual meeting of Appleton's elementary school teachers. The program this year was devoted to creative teaching. The theme has been developed in different ways in each elementary building, then culminated in exhibits and talk at mid-year.

"In Appleton there is a tradition of creativity. You don't know what you have here," he said gesturing expansively at the exhibit-lined gymnasium. "Things can explode" through creativity, he said.

"Anyone can latch on to something creative. Search for the crazy new concepts and carry them out. If you do, something astounding will come out of this group tonight," he declared.

No activity is too strenuous for a creative individual. Surles demonstrated it word and deed. While discussing "enthusiasms" as one of the essentials for creativity, Surles said, "You'll flip when you get a good idea." And he took three steps, flipped, and landed upright, continuing his stream of creative jargon.

7-Step Formula

Surles said it isn't necessary to tell Appleton teachers specific creative ideas. He chose rather to give them seven steps toward creativity: Open-mindedness, experimental attitude, enthusiasm, sensitivity, perceptivity, self-confidence, a conducive atmosphere — a formula that seems to have worked personally for Surles.

Putting together his bits of information from his talk, one can learn that Surles worked his way through Northwestern university by pouring coffee in a cafeteria and teaching children to swim; that he was a sergeant in the army; he taught at Colgate and Marquette universities; he is married, has two sons, is a speech consultant for industry, and stops his car by the side of the road to jot down ideas he conjures up while driving.

"Always carry a pencil and paper with you wherever you go," he insists. "You never can tell when an idea will hit you, and you don't want to forget it."

Everyone Creative
Surles pooh-poohs the old arguments that only bright people are creative. Einstein, he said, couldn't walk or talk at the age of 3 and was considered abysmally stupid. Age makes no difference either. Kettering was 19 when he invented the cash register; Hardy was 69 when he began writing poetry. Health makes no difference: Beethoven was deaf; Milton was blind; "ill health gouges creativity." Women can be as effective training is not necessary: knowledge is not conferred, it is achieved.

The starting point for all creative ideas, Surles insisted, is an open mind. "Don't spend all your time defending the old method. Use the time to explore. Try to look at a new crazy thing in terms of its creator's goal. There is plenty of time later to criticize and analyze."

Budget of $80 a Minute Since Christ Was Born
Washington — How much is a billion dollars? There have been slightly more than a billion minutes since the birth of Christ. So it would have required spending at the rate of nearly $80 a minute throughout the Christian era to match the federal budget sent to congress Tuesday for one year's outlay.

Fined $100 for Trying to Lure Girl into Car

A 32-year-old father of seven children today in municipal court was fined $100 for attempt to lure a 17-year-old girl into his car.

Leo S. Fischer, of 519 S. Christine street, pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct when brought before Judge Oscar J. Schmiede.

Appleton police said Fischer made three attempts to lure the girl into his car. The girl, they said, was standing on a College avenue corner waiting for a bus when a man in a car stopped, rolled down the car window and asked her if she wanted a ride. She refused and the man drove around the block twice more, each time asking her to get in the car. A friend of the girl noticed the car's license number and jotted it down on the palm of his hand.

Fischer will be permitted to work out of jail for 30 days if he can't pay the fine.

Wants Control Of Warheads

Canada to Handle American Nuclear Units Held There

Ottawa — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker says his government will insist on controlling the use of any American nuclear warheads stored in Canada.

The prime minister gave this assurance to parliament Monday night after opposition leader Lester B. Pearson declared the United States should not have special custody over any weapons in possession of Canada's armed forces.

Diefenbaker said negotiations are under way with the United States to arm Canadian forces with American nuclear weapons. He said his government feels there should be no increase in the number of countries making nuclear arms, and Canada therefore will get such weapons from the United States.

The United States will retain ownership of the nuclear warheads for these weapons, but Canada will control their use in Canada, he said.

Canada has been negotiating for atomic depth charges for its navy and air force and for nuclear warheads for the bomber and anti-aircraft missile.

Diefenbaker spoke after Pearson said Canada "should not accept...any nuclear missile which could be used only on orders from the U.S. rather than from a NATO authority."

"It seems to me," said Pearson, "that the continued refusal of the U.S. to make any concessions of any kind to collective authority over nuclear weapons—and the same attitude is adopted by the United Kingdom—will prejudice the whole NATO collective defense idea."

Miss Margaret Carew, Manawa, Dies at 90

Miss Margaret Carew, 90, route 1, Manawa, died at New London at 6:30 a. m. Monday after a long illness. She was born Oct. 6, 1869, in the town of Little Wolf, Waupaca county, and lived there all her life. She made her home with a brother, Edward.

Funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Thursday at Sacred Heart Catholic church, Manawa, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Booth Funeral home, Manawa, after 10 a. m. Wednesday. The rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Survivors include two brothers, Edward and John, both of route 1, Manawa.

Funeral Services for Accident Victim Set

Clintonville — Funeral services for Albert Schulz, 78, of 188 N. Main street, Clintonville, will be at 2 p. m. Thursday at the St. Martin Lutheran church, Clintonville. Schulz died Monday morning of injuries received Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car on S. Main street, Clintonville.

Waupaca county coroner Dr. Sam Salan says that no inquest will be held.

Friends may call at the Eberhardt and Hoh Funeral home, Clintonville, from Wednesday noon until 10:30 a. m. Thursday, then at the church until the time of services. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Schulz was born April 18, 1881, in Germany and came to the United States with his parents as a baby. The family settled in the town of Larabee, Waupaca county. For many years, he resided with his brother, William, and family, 186 N. Main street, Clintonville.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Jay Weatherwax and Mrs. Ida Pingel, Clintonville, and six brothers, Emil, Torgerson; Gust, Herman, Edward, William and Arnold all of Clintonville.

Occupancy At Hospital in '59 Up Slightly

Report Reveals
One Less Patient,
More Patient-Days

Kaukauna — The annual report of the Kaukauna Community hospital, released by Mrs. Berenice Elliott, administrator, shows 3,077 patients for the year, one less than in 1958 but patient days service for 1959 amounted to 13,300 compared to 13,150 in 1958.

Percentage of occupancy ranged from a low of 51.50 per cent to a high of 90.83 per cent for a yearly average of 72.95 per cent. In 1958 the occupancy average was 72.13 per cent.

During the year 278 major operations were performed, 250 minor operations and 268 tonsils and adenoids. During 1959 the report shows 1,502 medical patients, 17 Cesarean sections, 89 orthopedic patients, 12 stillborns, handled 250 emergencies and 57 deaths.

Babies Born
In 1959 there were 620 children born compared to 617 in 1958. Last year there were 332 boys and 293 girls. Five sets of twins were born during the year. The hospital reported 2,278 X-rays, 1,298 on in-patients and 735 on out-patients. Laboratory procedures numbered 15,568 for the year.

New equipment added during the year includes air conditioners for the kitchen, dining room, X-ray room and front office, a stack oven, an electric sonic instrument cleaner, a new microscope flame photometer, a rotary lawn mower and sterilizer.

During the year the city blacktopped the parking lot and roadway at the hospital and improved the general condition of the parking area. A roadway was constructed from Crooks avenue to the hospital for the convenience of employees and the ambulance drivers as it enters in the rear of the hospital.

Race Set for Alderman in Fourth Ward

Kaukauna — A race developed for fourth ward alderman Monday when Phillip H. Voights, 1705 Crooks avenue, took out nomination papers for the post.

Voights, pulp tester at the Combined Locks Paper company, ran for the same office two years ago. Gil Anderson, incumbent, began circulating nomination papers last week.

Telephone Firm Spent $69,000 Here in 1959

Cable Expansion
Accounts for $60,000
To Meet Expansion

Kaukauna — The Wisconsin Telephone company spent $69,000 in the city during 1959 to keep pace with the growth of the community, according to Richard Kuehn, manager.

Of this amount, $60,000 was spent for expansion of telephone cable facilities in the Kaukauna area. Placement of new manholes and installation of 1,000 feet of cable on S. Main street to meet increased demands on the southside was part of the program, said Kuehn.

The manager reported the firm had an investment of $754,000 in Kaukauna, thus each telephone represents a $334 investment. A new high in the number of phones in the city was also reached with 3,770 phones reported, an increase of 190 over 1958.

New High
The average of 19,353 calls per day is also a new high. No important changes or additions are planned in 1960, continued Kuehn, although two new items of telephone equipment will be introduced.

Home phone users will have the opportunity to secure a "Princess" phone, a small compact phone which will fit conveniently into small locations. Businessmen may be introduced to the "Rapidial." This is an automatic dialer with a capacity of 300 numbers. Numbers are set in a machine and the user merely turns the knob to a desired number, presses a bar and the number is automatically dialed.

Merchants Edge Kruegers to Take City Cage Loop Lead

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Merchants squad took over sole possession of first place in the City Basketball League Sunday by downing Krueger Furniture 61-58.

The loss was the first for Krueger over a 2-year span and gives the team a 5-1 record this year while the Merchants have a 6-0 mark. It took a last quarter rally by the winners to capture the decision which was won from the foul line. The Merchants hit 21 of 28 free throw tries while the losers connected on 16 of 25 attempts.

The winners jumped off to a 15-12 lead at the end of the first quarter and increased Women Taking Part in the VFW auxiliary eighth district meeting at Kaukauna talking over the program are, left to right, Mrs. Loran Patten, Horicon, department chaplain; Mrs. Fred Mason, local president; Mrs. William Kurtin, eighth district president; Mrs. William Campbell, Neenah, national conductress; and Mrs. John Lobermeier, Park Falls, department president.

Patient Costs Decrease At Riverview Hospital

Superintendent Reports Decline Is Result of Forming Dual Institution

Kaukauna — At the conclusion of the first year of operation as a tuberculosis sanatorium and general hospital, the Riverview hospital reported a lowering of weekly per capita cost from $71.58 to $62.03 per patient, according to Dr. John G. Russo, superintendent and medical director.

The state pays $21 per week, therefore, the actual cost of care per week to the county for a tuberculous patient is $41.93, pointed out the report. Dr. Russo said, largest problem encountered in the operation of the dual institution is lack of personnel. He points to a shortage of registered and practical nurses as well as nurses aides in the community.

The report shows 1,152 patient weeks for Outagamie county and a total of 98 patients for the year. During the year 3,752 clinic patients were examined and X-rayed. Outagamie county reported 89 patients and 13 were reported from Waupaca.

County Patients
Other counties represented included Brown, one; Calumet, two; Forest, seven; Marinette, four; Oneida, one; Shawano, two; Taylor, one; Vilas, three; Winnebago, two and three reported from the state-at-large.

Dr. Russo pointed out, the general hospital section started with 13 beds, was increased to 16 and plans are being made to accommodate 20. The superintendent recommended the board consider erection of a staff home for employees on the grounds.

Staff House Needed
This would permit increasing bed capacity of the hospital and aid in securing satisfactory employees for the institution. A neighboring institution was able to find staff employees by furnishing a staff home, according to Dr. Russo.

Care of the chronically ill can be carried on without a loss to the county and in fact, as a dual institution, means a savings to the welfare department, continued Dr. Russo. Total expenditures at the institution have been reduced from $135,087 to $118,757.

Charlie Turns to Readers for Ideas On Where to Go for Next Adventure

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

O gentle reader!

The boss has put into your hands—nice, soft hands! — the place, extent and scope of my next adventure. Come to my aid. Where shall I go?

Shall I visit the French Foreign legion and write a series on those fighting men? Shall I follow the trail of Lewis and Clark through America's west? Shall I look for gold in the Yukon?

Shall I follow Father Marquette and Joliet and rediscover the Mississippi? Or go the route of LaSalle's ship, the Griffin?

Where would you like me to go?

Shall I go into the Canadian northwest and write a series on the Royal Mounted Canadian police? Or move, lock, stock and barrel into some of America's skid rows to report to you on these fallen men?

So Many Places

Would you like me to use the Ohio river and its environs to follow the route of the long-gone Johnny Applesseed?

Visit the battlefields of the Civil war?

Journey to the graves of the signers of the Declaration of Independence?

Travel to America's southlands to write a series of articles on racial prejudice?

Report to you on America's most famous home-steads?

Visit the old gun-toting towns like Deadwood, Tombstone, Virginia City?

Become a cowboy on a western ranch, and report to you of my experiences?

Readers to Choose

What shall I do? Where shall I go? My next trip belongs to you. It may be the first time in the history of journalism that readers send a reporter off on an assignment. (It may be the last, too.)

Is there a place you have always wanted to go? If so, write me in care of this newspaper and perhaps it shall be the place I'll visit and report on for you. If you are unable to see it for yourself, send me. Perhaps seeing it through my eyes may be a reasonable substitute.

So, gentle reader, help me out by giving me an assignment — but write soon — my feet are getting itchy and it's time to be on the trail.

Chicago Man Fined on Disorderly Charge

Steel Firms Reconsider Strike Outcome

Most Believe Agreement Not So Bad After All

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Executives of the various steel companies have been reviewing what really happened in the settlement of the steel strike and most of them have come to the conclusion that maybe the final agreement reached was not as bad for them as it has been painted.

There is a tendency to agree with what President Eisenhower said about the pressure of "circumstances," rather than the pressure of government, as the paramount influence in bringing about the settlement.

The head of one company puts it this way:

"We have been in this wage-price spiral for 20 odd years. You can't stop a great wave of that kind dead in its tracks all at once. We've made a great effort in the steel business to try to stop it. We made some mistakes as we went along but, by and large, we tried our best to slow the thing down."

"Now, the settlement gives an advance of about half in the next three years of what we've had in the past three years."

Fearing New Laws

"The real pressure that developed was the fear of a Democratic congress and what they would do if they had to meet an emergency. If there was a threat of a resumption of the strike, congress would be proposing all kinds of laws to prevent it, and these laws would not be the kind that would be carefully considered or thoughtfully discussed. They would be emergency laws passed in order to force a settlement of the strike. It was the fear of that kind of law, as well as the threat of the steel strike being resumed, which most of us thought would do a lasting damage to our employer-employee relations and to the whole country. We would have had a difficult time ever getting repeal of the drastic, ill-considered legislation that would have been passed."

The head of another steel company believes the adverse nature of the settlement has been overemphasized. He says, no one could ever say this settlement was a victory for the steel industry, for we did not accomplish our main objectives of a noninflationary settlement and change in work rules which would promote efficiency. Nevertheless, as Mr. Blough of U.S. Steel pointed out, we did reduce the rate of increase in employment costs to about 3 1/2 percent as compared with an average of eight per cent throughout the postwar period. This is no mean accomplishment. In addition, we alerted the public, including the steelworkers, to the importance of the work-rule issues.

"One may hope that this could bring some fruitful results as time goes along."

Hidden Costs

Some writers contended that if the industry had settled on the union offer of 15 cents an hour prior to the strike, this would have meant all at once a 37 1/2 percent increase as compared with 41 cents in the actual settlement. The kind of 15-cent-an-hour offer made by the union prior to the strike was the same as the 1956 settlement which resulted in an employment cost of 81 cents an hour. This is exactly what would have happened had we accepted the original so-called '15 cent' offer. The union never counts the related costs of wage increases — for overtime, holiday pay, vacation pay, etc. — nor did they at that time look with favor at any limitation of the cost-of-living clause.

"So what am I saying? Simply that this deal was not 'all black' nor 'all white.' It was in the gray area. If those who believe in this cause keep at it, additional progress can be made with the hope that intelligent people can truly arrest inflation over a reasonable period of time."

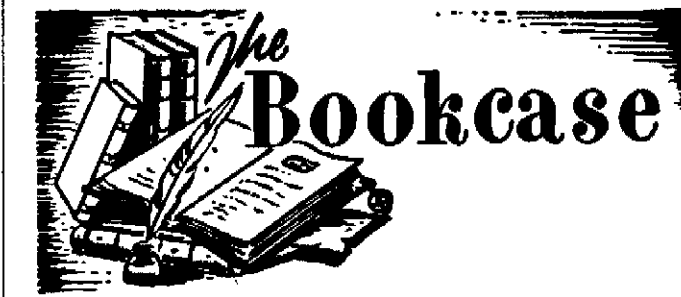

It is conceded that, while the industry paid a heavy price in the cost of work interruption, the drawing of public attention to the basic issue of work rules was a gain in a long-range sense for management.

Just what the political gains or losses will be remain yet to be determined. The administration's position is that it acted as an informal mediator and that it made no promises about future legislation and gave no sanction to any agreement on prices. The steel men say privately that each company will have to decide for itself whether or not to increase prices and when such prices would go into effect.

Dramatic Substance in New Mystery Novel Set in Wales

BY W. G. ROGERS

AP Arts Editor
("Strike for a King," by Menna Gallie, Harper, $3.50.)
Half a dozen little girls chant a nonsense tune and skip rope in the street at Cilindre. It is August. It is the day of the carnival, which the children plan to attend, and they dream, of dressing up as a bride, or a fairy with a wand.

Then their thoughts switch lightly to the sick woman in the house before which they are playing, and one of them remembers a funeral, and the tea that followed, and the ribbon she got from a wreath. At last out comes Gerwin Evans to wish they'd be quiet, for his sister Gwen is desperately sick; and they obediently run off.

Mood Darkens.
Thus happily does this short novel open, and thus quickly does its mood darken. It is 1926, a time of bitter want in this town on the bank of the Welsh river Tawe. Along with their friends elsewhere, the miners are on strike. Even the justice, D. J. Williams, a coal picker, has quit his job. They have a procession and burst into song, any song, for singing is their habit in happiness and woe.

Woe comes. Policemen

Classification Of Counties Gains Backing

Committee to Study Urban, Rural Concepts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The idea of classifying Wisconsin counties according to their rural or urban status, suggested in a University of Wisconsin report a year ago, may be inching toward political acceptance.

A legislative interim committee chosen to study reorganization of county government said here it will examine the subject seriously, as one possible means of achieving a modernization of the county structure that has been a subject of agitation in the more populous counties for years.

A. J. Thelen, secretary of the Wisconsin County Boards association, suggested that such a classification would be possible under present law, and offered probably the only means for changing the form of county government under the constitutional uniformity clause covering counties.

It was the association which two years ago invited the bureau of government of the university to make the study of county administration which led to the suggestion of an urban and rural classification of counties.

Replace Board

Under a plan as described in general terms thus far, a dozen or more of the larger counties of the state might be permitted to choose another form of organization to replace the county board system.

Such a form would be uniform for such counties, however, under the existing county government requirements. The other counties would be entitled to retain a system best suited to their needs. Presumably this would be the county board form.

Assemblyman Sherman Sobocinski, Milwaukee, which already has a special county government classification law under which it is functioning, is chairman of the study committee.

Sen. Leo P. O'Brien, Green Bay, and Assemblyman Kenneth Priebe, Appleton, are among its members.

Hearing Set On Referendum

March 21 Date of Action on Green Bay Request for Preble

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — Circuit Judge E. M. Duquaine has set March 21 as the date for a hearing on the petition of the city for a referendum in Preble to annex the town to the city under terms of the state's new annexation law.

The petition is based on city council action Dec. 1 and was presented today by City Atty. Clarence Nier and David Brown, attorney for the city annexation commission. Preble was represented by Joseph Holman, town attorney. Holman reportedly pending town board action to make the town a party in the proceedings as required by the new law.

Holman said the hearing should be set sufficiently in the future because "we fully expect to file objections to the constitutionality of the law."

Existing annexation law and incorporation statutes provide six months for the circulation of petitions, he said.

2 Boys Placed On Probation

Chilton — Two route 1, Hilbert, juveniles, who admitted a series of Hilbert area burglaries, were placed on indefinite probation to the Calumet county department of public welfare Monday by juvenile judge D. H. Sebor.

In addition, the youths were ordered to make restitution for stolen goods and property damage and instructed not to apply for driver's licenses without first obtaining approval of the court.

The breakins occurred Dec. 30 when they burglarized the Central garage, Potter, the Hilbert elevator and the Hilbert lumber company. The pair failed in an attempt to enter the Pethan Mobile station in Hilbert.

Citizen Group for Better Sewerage Formed in Neenah

Members Seek Hearing With Council to Present Request

Neenah — Formation of a citizens committee for better sewerage in Neenah was announced today as the result of a meeting Sunday afternoon at the American Legion clubhouse.

About 75 persons, residents of the Fourth, Sixth and Seventh wards, hardest hit by the recent post-Christmas sewer backups, attended.

Elmer Armbruster was named general chairman with Fred Reichel as Fourth ward chairman, Charles R. Repenn as Sixth ward chairman and A. J. Bevans as Seventh ward chairman. All wards in the city except the Third and Fifth wards on the island were represented.

Aim of the citizens committee will be to keep the issue before the city council in an effort to secure relief for those sections of Neenah affected by back-up of sewage into the homes.

It is expected a delegation from the three wards will attend Wednesday night's council meeting and request to be heard in furtherance of their demands, that steps be taken to alleviate the situation.

A large group of citizens from various wards attended the last council meeting as spokesmen pleaded with the aldermen for prompt action.

3-Way Race For 6th Ward Alderman
David Schoening, David O. Martin, Secure Papers

Neenah — The aldermanic contest in the Sixth ward became a 3-way race Monday afternoon with two more candidates announcing for the post at the office of City Clerk R. V. Hauser.

David G. Schoening, 746 Winneconne avenue, a production scheduler at Marathon division of American Can company, and David O. Martin, 844 Reddin avenue, a production planner for Kimberly-Clark corporation, are the newest candidates.

Ald. Carl Coenen, 649 Wilson avenue, the incumbent, secured his nomination papers earlier.

Nomination papers were filed Monday by James H. Dinus, 745 Maple street, incumbent alderman from the Eighth ward, and H. R. Moore, 583 E. Wisconsin avenue, incumbent county board supervisor from the First ward.

The only office lacking a candidate is that of Second ward supervisor on the county board, now held by Allan Ekvall who is not seeking re-election.

Fifty Years of Employment at Kimberly-Clark corporation were observed Monday by H. P. Thompson, right, a materials handling specialist, who began as an office boy. Among those honoring him were W. M. Wright, left, vice president of administration, and J. Leslie Sensenbrenner, retired company official. Thompson was honored at a reception in the afternoon and dinner in the evening Monday.

K-C Employee Observes 50 Years at Firm

H. P. Thompson, Neenah, Cited for Company Service

Neenah — Fifty years of continuous service at Kimberly-Clark corporation were marked Monday by H. P. Thompson, 407 Third street, who is the third headquarters' office employee to reach the half-century service mark.

Fred Kranhold, Appleton, and the late F. J. Sensenbrenner had 54 and 56 years of service respectively at the time of their retirements.

Thompson, who will continue working in central materials where he is a loading specialist, started his career with Kimberly-Clark corporation as an office boy when the headquarters staff numbered only 35 persons.

A reception for the 50-year man was held Monday afternoon at the main office and a dinner party in the evening, at which W. M. Wright, vice president of administration, presented him with the traditional gold watch.

Various Assignments
Thompson's 50 years of service included assignments at the Appleton Atlas mill when it was making butcher manila and some specialty papers. He worked at Telulah mill, one of the early book paper mills of the corporation, at Kimberly and at Niagara where he remained until 1937.

He returned to the main office for an assignment in the materials department.

For the last 23 years he has been in shipping, handling and storage problems from mill to printer-customer. His contributions to handling and storage methods are known throughout the paper industry, according to A. G. Sharp, senior vice president of the industrial products division of Kimberly-Clark.

Bethel Lutheran School May Add 4th Teacher in Fall

Menasha — Possibility of adding a fourth teacher to its parochial day school was mentioned at the annual meeting Sunday of Bethel Evangelical Lutheran church. The teacher may be added in the fall because of an expected enrollment increase.

Two classrooms are being added to the school and will be completed this year.

Health Service

Program Meets Industrial Medical Unit Standards

Neenah — Four units of Kimberly-Clark corporation were cited today by the Occupational Health Institute for providing employees with "the best kind of constructive health service, aimed at keeping workers well and cutting incidence of accident and disease."

The certificates, recognizing industrial health services which meet standards established by the Industrial Medical association, went to the Atlas mill at Appleton, the main office, Kimlark and the Neenah mill.

Dr. Elston L. Belknap of Milwaukee, regional consultant for the institute and professor of occupational medicine at the Marquette university medical school, made the presentations.

The institute is sanctioned by the Industrial Medical association and guided by a board representing management and medicine.

The institute also guides managements in developing effective employee health programs, serves as an official accrediting agency for industrial health services, makes surveys, reports to management on status and efficiency of medical programs, coun-

Music Enjoyment Theme of Program For AAUW Branch

Neenah — "The College Woman: Her Enjoyment of Music" will be presented by Jean Hedemark Adams, Appleton, summer laboratory school at for the 8 p.m. Jan. 26 meeting of Neenah-Menasha branch of American Association of University Women at the YWCA.

Mrs. Adams is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where she was a pupil of Leon Iltis. She also studied at the Julliard School of Music with James Friskin. The pianist taught at Monticello college in Illinois and in Wauwatosa public schools. She also taught at University of Wisconsin music clinics and the summer laboratory school at the University.

The program will be a continuation of the branch's theme for general programs this year, "The College Woman: Individual and Citizen." This was the theme for the AAUW national convention last June in Kansas City.

National Level. On the national level, the association has an arts program, which includes the field of music, and is concerned with making information available on arts resources, encouraging creative work in the arts and providing opportunity for reflective appreciation of the arts.

The Neenah - Menasha branch has five study groups in the field of the arts, one of which is a music study group. Mrs. A. P. Engebretson is chairman of this unit, which is studying "Living Famous Performers" this year.

Mrs. Hamilton Craig is January tea chairman. She will be assisted by Miss Helen Babcock, Mrs. James Davel, Mrs. S. N. Pickard, Mrs. L. R. LaDouceur, Miss Nancy Pickering, Mrs. E. H. Schmiel, Mrs. S. F. Shattuck, Miss Joan Stelzner, Mrs. Paul Rasmussen, Mrs. Howard Sheldon and Mrs. Norman Young.

"The Miraculous Tea Party", a play by Jane McGowan, was presented by Girl Scout Troop 155 under the direction of Mrs. H. R. Moore and Mrs. N. T. Gilbert as part of the children's story hour program Saturday morning at Neenah public library. Characters, from left, are Nancy Gilbert, Priscilla Gilbert, Jaime Shipman, Mary Moore and Wenda Peterson.

Two PTA Units Set Programs

Neenah — "Meeting Individual Pupil Needs in the Neenah System" will be the program theme for the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday meeting of Taft school Parent-Teacher association.

The program will be presented by Miss Mary Willis, elementary supervisor, and Miss Margaret Kuchenberg. Miss Willis will discuss the school program for the above average student and outline classroom help given these students. Miss Kuchenberg will describe the Neenah school program offered for children with learning difficulties.

The program is the third in the series, "What's On the Horizon in Our Public School System?" A homemade candy sale with candy made by mothers of kindergarten and second grade students will follow the meeting.

Miss Gladys Ihde, Oshkosh, will discuss work with retarded children at the 8 p.m. Wednesday meeting of Gillingham school Parent-Teacher association.

Foundry Credit Union Shareholders to Hear Milwaukee Speaker

Neenah — The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Neenah Foundry credit union will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Marathon - Nicolet union hall, Menasha.

Two directors and one credit committee man will be elected. Robert Roderick, assistant director of education of the League of Milwaukee, will speak on "Credit Union Services."

A film, "A Talk by Father Ganey," on the need for missionary work will be shown. Following the meeting there will be a social hour and dancing.

Fire Damages Wisnac Machine Repair Shop

Neenah — Fire caused by sparks from an acetylene torch damaged the machine shed and repair shop of the K. P. Wisnac Excavating company about 9:45 a.m. Monday. Fire Chief John Huebner of the joint Neenah and Menasha township fire department said the amount of loss was not known.

The sparks had gotten unnoticed under some wood in the frame building and later broke out into flames. Ten men from the joint department and the town of Menasha fire department fought the blaze which was confined to the south wall and ceiling above.

The firemen returned to the station at 11 a.m.

Seedling Trees Available For 4-H Spring Plantings

Oshkosh — Seedling trees again are available through the cooperative efforts of the Wisconsin Conservation department and the extension service to 4-H club members, according to Clarence H. Westfall, club agent.

Order blanks must be returned to the county extension office by Feb. 1. Requests will be reviewed by the district forester and a committee after which final allocations will be made. Trees will be shipped in spring from the state nursery at Wisconsin Rapids.

Varieties available include Norway pine, white jack pine, white cedar and white spruce. In general, the white cedar and white spruce are recommended for the heavier soil areas while pine thrive better in sandy soil.

Ted Peterson, extension forester of the University of Wisconsin, will discuss tree variety selection, planting methods and after-planting care at the Winneconne Central school at 8 p.m. March 8. Slides and films will be shown.

E & R Company Will Open Model Home in Ripon Soon

Neenah — E & R Real Estate and Construction company is opening a new model home in Ripon. This is the first time the firm has expanded to the extent of showing a model home in this community.

The company felt, according to Walter W. Witt, Jr., sales manager, that there was a shortage of low cost homes in this thriving community. By the end of the month they will have completed the low cost home which can be purchased with as little as $400 down. This is the first time that such a low cost down payment would be possible for a home of this type.

The model home will be a 3-bedroom ranch with an attached garage. One of the attractive features will be its all aluminum, maintenance-free siding and windows. This will delight any home owner and will enable him to have more leisure time to spend with his family.

The home is located in the Luther Hills subdivision of Ripon. A church there has bought property, is subdividing it and selling lots, the proceeds of which will be used for a new church and school.

Beans 'N Wieners Promotion Due in P-G in February

February's biggest food first makes its appearance for the seventh successive year in a heavy concentration of advertising and promotion that blankets the country. Sponsored by Stokely - Van Camp, world's largest producer of pork and beans, the "beans 'n wieners" promotion sells America on the benefits of combining two of America's favorite foods: pork and beans — and wieners.

Since 1952 when "beans 'n wieners" made its first appearance, more and more trade enthusiasm has been generated with each passing year.

Van Camp is stopping shoppers in the Fox Cities area with large-space advertising in the Appleton Post-Crescent during the week of Feb. 15.

School Candy Sale

Menasha — To raise money for the building fund, students of St. John school have been selling chocolate bars throughout the city. The sale closes Friday. Proceeds will help pay for new classroom equipment and reduction of debt on the new 6-room addition which opened last fall.

Expanded Sports Equipment Line is being featured at Valley Merchandise Sales Mart. The firm carries a complete line of fishing tackle and rods and reels. In the near future it will have tents set up in the building, as well as pool tables and ping pong tables. Valley Merchandise Sales Mart suggests coming out to look around for your sporting needs. It is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Mondays and Fridays, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. other week days. The new Sales Mart building is located on Highway 47 between Appleton and Menasha on route 2, Menasha. This was formerly the old airport hangar and more recently housed the Rollerena. It is four times bigger than their former store and is surrounded by an endless supply of free parking space. Telephone number at the Mart is PA 5-2683.

Menasha Sheet Metal Has Solution to Low Humidity

Menasha — Humidity affects your health and your comfort during the heating season, according to Menasha Sheet Metal, 314 Racine street, your dealer for Aprilaire, the automatic humidifier.

Humidity is water vapor in a given space. Relative humidity is simply the amount of moisture present, compared to the maximum amount of moisture the air is capable of holding at that temperature.

The higher the temperature, the more moisture the air can hold. An increase in temperature, consequently, reduces the relative humidity. During the winter, then, artificial heating increases the capacity of the air to absorb moisture. And in a sponge-like manner, this heated air draws moisture from everything it contacts, causing that dry feeling in your nose, dryness of your skin and annoying sparks from static electricity.

Dry, heated air absorbs moisture from everything it contacts. The resulting wood shrinkage causes loose furniture, floor cracks, shrunken moulding and panels. There are damaging effects, also to carpets, upholstery, draperies, books and documents caused by excessive wear to dried out fibers.

With too-low relative humidity, the parched air removes moisture from the throat and nasal passages, damaging the delicate membranes, reducing their effectiveness as nature's barrier to air borne disease germs. Bacteria, too, thrive better at low humidity levels.

The only way to avoid the many damages of too-low humidity during the heating season is to restore moisture to the air by artificial methods.

The Aprilaire automatic humidifier has two important requirements, that of sufficient capacity and accurate controls.

The Aprilaire is easily installed in less than two hours. There are models for any type of heating system as well as a portable model.

Call Menasha Sheet Metal at PA 2-3653 for an estimate.

Menasha Sheet Metal Has Solution to Low Humidity

Menasha — Humidity affects your health and your comfort during the heating season, according to Menasha Sheet Metal, 314 Racine street, your dealer for Aprilaire, the automatic humidifier.

Humidity is water vapor in a given space. Relative humidity is simply the amount of moisture present, compared to the maximum amount of moisture the air is capable of holding at that temperature.

The higher the temperature, the more moisture the air can hold. An increase in temperature, consequently, reduces the relative humidity. During the winter, then, artificial heating increases the capacity of the air to absorb moisture. And in a sponge-like manner, this heated air draws moisture from everything it contacts, causing that dry feeling in your nose, dryness of your skin and annoying sparks from static electricity.

Dry, heated air absorbs moisture from everything it contacts. The resulting wood shrinkage causes loose furniture, floor cracks, shrunken moulding and panels. There are damaging effects, also to carpets, upholstery, draperies, books and documents caused by excessive wear to dried out fibers.

With too-low relative humidity, the parched air removes moisture from the throat and nasal passages, damaging the delicate membranes, reducing their effectiveness as nature's barrier to air borne disease germs. Bacteria, too, thrive better at low humidity levels.

The only way to avoid the many damages of too-low humidity during the heating season is to restore moisture to the air by artificial methods.

The Aprilaire automatic humidifier has two important requirements, that of sufficient capacity and accurate controls.

The Aprilaire is easily installed in less than two hours. There are models for any type of heating system as well as a portable model.

Beans 'N Wieners Promotion Due in P-G in February

February's biggest food first makes its appearance for the seventh successive year in a heavy concentration of advertising and promotion that blankets the country. Sponsored by Stokely - Van Camp, world's largest producer of pork and beans, the "beans 'n wieners" promotion sells America on the benefits of combining two of America's favorite foods: pork and beans — and wieners.

Since 1952 when "beans 'n wieners" made its first appearance, more and more trade enthusiasm has been generated with each passing year.

Van Camp is stopping shoppers in the Fox Cities area with large-space advertising in the Appleton Post-Crescent during the week of Feb. 15.

Janet Runge Hammers 689 Trio With Big 278 Single

Eclipses Former High Set by 8 Pins; Rita Lampman Cracks 597; Monty Paces First Niter

Neenah — Janet Runge, one of the state's outstanding woman keglers, thundered a whopping 689 series, including an equally impressive 278 single game, in the Tri-City Women's major bowling league Monday night at Lakewood lanes.

The 689 series, probably the highest women's total ever rolled in the Twin Cities, eclipsed the former mark of 681 rolled by teammate Percy Karnopp in the same league last October. The big game was just one stick shy of the 279 rolled by Evelyn Losse at Muench's in December, 1955.

Janet, a member of the Joyce Mover team which also includes her mother, Leone, opened with a 203 game and hit 208 in the second effort, closing with the 278. She began the big third with four strikes and had a 9-pin count in the fifth frame after converting the spare, she had a string of six strikes and then closed with nine pins on the last ball.

Muench Bowls Leading Trio In K of C Wheel

Neenah — Al Muench clubbed a 577 series to pace the Knights of Columbus Bowling league Monday night at Muench's Recreation alleys. Clyde Patzke rolled 553 and Harold Dieckhoff had 551. Santa Marías (28-22) hold first place by one game. Evan "Sam" Handy's 565 trio was the only honor total in the Sleepy Hollow circuit Monday night at Muench's. Latham Body Works (28-17) paces the loop by one game. in the Catholic Men's league Monday night at the Recreation lanes. Wiegand's won two games to break its first place tie with Broadway No. 2 and 6-0 in BABA play, trailing St. John by a half game, goes to latter won one. Wiegand's record is 34-20.

Hewitt Quintet Faces YMCA Club No Action Carded in Neenah Junior Wheel

Neenah — Because a tie for first round honors failed to materialize, no action is scheduled in the Neenah Junior CA quintet there tonight in a non-league game. The meeting will be the first of the season between two clubs. Hewitt's, which has 6-0 in BABA play, trailing St. John by a half game, goes to latter won one. Wiegand's record is 34-20.

Weyenberg Retains M-E Loop Point Lead

Neenah — Most of the leading scorers in the Mid-Eastern conference hit under their averages last Friday with the result that there has been a reshuffling in several spots of the individual point race. Kaukauna's Leroy Weyenberg still tops the pack with 129 points after being limited to 15 in the Shawano game. Darrell Jansen, Kimberly senior, has moved into second with 124 points, just five behind Weyenberg, with his 25-point output against Neenah last Friday.

Leads Jansen By 5 Markers; Hearden Third

Teammate Don Hearden is just two points behind Jansen with 122 points. He tallied 14 against Neenah, which is below his average. Ron Hoppe, who had an 18-point night against Shawano only trails Hearden by one point while Dave Ristau of Menasha, second last week, is now fifth after being held to five by Clintonville. Ristau, the highest scoring underclassman, has 117 points.

Jack Ankerson of Neenah ranks sixth with 114 points and Bill Ritchie of Menasha seventh with 102. Ritchie collected 25 against Clintonville to tie Jansen for the week's high honors. The next best was 23 by Two Rivers' Tom Lawrence, which boosted him into the top 13. Dropping out was Shawano's Steve Heller, who was blanked in the Kaukauna game.

Hearden and Jansen are tied for first place in the field goal department with 48 each. Weyenberg has the most free throws, 37.

Lesson in English
BY W. L. GORDON

Word often misused: Do not say, "Numerous books were on the table." It is better to say, "Many books." "Numerous" means a VERY great number, and in most cases its use is an exaggeration.

Often mispronounced: Caucus (meeting). Pronounce kah-kuss, accent on first syllable.

Often misspelled: Fusillade; one "s," two "l's."

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: extirpate; to root out; to eradicate. (Pronounce eks-ter-pait, accent first syllable). "Trees were extirpated and villages demolished by the hurricane."

Young Hobby Club
Pup Made of Pipe Cleaners
Good Pull Toy for Young Fry

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's fun-project is a little dog made of pipe cleaners. He moves about on an empty thread spool.

Tie the end of one of the pipe cleaners into a double knot as shown in Figure 1. This forms the head of the dog. Cut an inch off the other end of the cleaner and slip it through the knot to make the ears.

Twist a second pipe cleaner around the first, near the dog's head, to make the front legs. Turn the feet in as if the dog is very pigeon-toed. Twist the third cleaner around the first one to form the back legs. Bend the hind feet in as you did the front ones. Turn the end of the first cleaner upward to make the dog's tail. With ink, mark eyes, nose and mouth on the dog's head.

The roller for the dog's front feet (Figure 2) is the next thing to prepare. Run a string through it by which it may be pulled. Next, fit the front feet into the hole of the spool, one foot at each side. This completes the dog.

Pull him along on a bare table top and watch him hop on his hind legs as his front ones move on the rolling spool. Once in a while he will kick up his rear legs and fall forward on his nose. In fact, you will find him full of tricks. For another stunt, put both his front and hind feet in the spool and watch him do acrobatic stunts as the spool is moved.

If you have a baby brother sister or she will enjoy using the dog as a little pull toy (Figure 3).

New Containers Help Assure Air Deliveries in Russia

All this thanks to Nikolai Sergeevich Antrushin, who in-vented airborne containers that hit their mark without breaking.

The Soviet Union, like Latin America, has progressed from the trail age to the air and space age.

Thousands travel by plane who never were in an auto-motive. They live in places inaccessible except for air travel.

Parachute drops from planes proves impractical--there was much breakage, parachutes drifted for as much as a third of a mile off course, and in stormy weather in Siberia chutes are no good at all.

Izvestia reports that Antru-shin, chief engineer of the airport at Archangelsk, stud-ied how to package glass con-tainers so that they could be dropped with accuracy and keep the contents intact.

Elastic Packing

His first invention was an elastic packing of inflated tire tubes covered with a football

Such a container can with-stand 100 drops. It doesn't sink in water and temperature of the contents is kept con-stant for about 10 hours," Iz-vestia said.

Later Antrushin perfected other containers, one like a sponge rubber ball, the other made out of waste paper in a honeycomb effect.

Even jugs and small ani-mals dropped half a mile onto ice-covered lakes came through intact.

New containers with pre-served blood plasma, serum, glucose, penicillin, veterinary station preparations -- and of course spare parts for trac-tors--are successfully rained down to their recipients.

Three Remain In Hospital After Crash

Appleton Family Of Four Injured South of Manawa

Waupaca — A family of four was reported in favorable condition today after being involved in a near head-on auto crash about 7:30 p. m. Sunday, 2 1/2 miles south of Manawa.

Driver of the car, George Whalen, Jr., 26, 7241 N. Harman street, Appleton, suffered a bruised chest and was released from New London Community hospital Monday.

Still hospitalized at New London are his wife, Betty, and two small sons. She suffered a lacerated knee and a right arm and sprained back. Richard, 1, was knocked unconscious for an hour and received a concussion and shock. James, 2, received multiple lacerations of the face, nose and forehead, according to the attending physician.

Their car collided with one driven by Kieth A. Eichorst, 19, route 3, New London at the intersection of County Trunks B and BB.

Whalen was going south and Eichorst west on County Trunk B. The crash happened when Eichorst turned in front of the Whalen vehicle to enter County Trunk BB, according to county police.

St. John had a 42-24 half-time edge over Central and posted a 45-26 bulge in the final two frames.

Greg Ropella scored 20 years of league play. The 213 was the night's high. The first national set, a 629, was rolled Jan. 8 at Mid-Town by Elaine Hartfiel.

Jerry Rohde collected a 568 series for the night's only other honor count in the mixed league. The Giants (20-7) hold first place by two games.

Monty Luke topped a 573 set and Ben Pakalski rolled a 235 game in the St. John Holy Name wheel Monday night at the Mid-Town lanes.

Pakalski finished with 566 while other honor totals included Syl Ziolkowski 228, Jim Voissem and John Reuter 555, Henry Plath 554 and the Rev. Frank Mintjal 552.

Hour on Wheels is the first place club with a 34-23 record and a margin of one game.

Dave Buksyk's 562 set led the way in the weekend Bandwagon Mixed league at Mid-Town. "Nobbie" Buksyk collected 557.

The Guy Lombardo team (22-8) is the pacesetter by four games.

St. Mary Frosh Cagers Topple Little Chute '5'

Menasha — The St. Mary freshman basketball squad garnered its fifth straight win by defeating St. John of Little Chute 51-34 here Monday night.

The Zephyr yearlings led 11-9 at the quarter, 27-18 at half-time and 38-26 at the close of three segments.

Bill Starr led the winners with 20 points. Tom Heroux hit 12 and Tom Johnson scored 11 plus setting up eight or nine other baskets with assists. R. Jansen scored 14 for Little Chute.

The Zephyrs have defeated St. John and Fox Lutheran twice and Fond du Lac Springs once. They also won over the St. Patrick CYO squad and bugged to the jayvees.

Snow Is Expected Tonight in the central and eastern Great Lakes area, the central Appalachians and northern New England. Rain is forecast for the central west coast with snow or rain in the northwest Pacific area. There may be snow flurries in the central and southern Rockies. It will be cooler in the Plains states and along the east coast.

Colder Air Expected to Enter State

Cold weather is expected to move into the state today on the heels of heavy snow which smothered the south and central portions.

Temperatures tonight should fall to about six above zero, with clear skies, the Green Bay weather bureau said. It expects the cold spell to remain at least until the weekend.

The Fox Cities recorded little more than two and a half inches of snow. Milwaukee reported up to 14 inches. This came on top of nine inches already on the ground.

Nelson Blames GOP For Delay at New Welfare Building

Madison — (AP) — Republicans were blamed Monday by Gov. Gaylord Nelson for a mixup expected to result in completion of a 450-bed welfare building a year before its kitchen facilities are ready.

Involved is a nursery at Central Colony, located near Madison. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy this summer.

The Democratic chief executive said he has asked the department of administration to trim six months from the kitchen facility construction schedule. Temporary food service, he said, will have to be provided until it is finished.

"We must move fast," the governor said, "to make up for the disorganized efforts of past administrations."

Some Motors in Moderate Gains In Active Trade

New York — (AP) — The stock market continued to decline early this afternoon amid scattered resistance to the lower trend. Trading was fairly active.

The top four steelmakers showed plus signs and a few of the motor stocks rose moderately.

Some specially situated stocks made going from fractions to about 2 points. The general run of pivotal stocks, however, remained under selling pressure and showed losses running from fractions to a point or two.

Wall Street remained in a cautious mood and some of the big institutional investors were said to be more on the "sell" than the "buy" side of the market. Nevertheless, an attempt at a rally at the end of the first hour brought an increase in volume. When prices eased again, trading dried up — a favorable sign for the bulls.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 30 cents to $224.80 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U. S. government bonds were steady.

Neenah Issues Permits for 3 New Houses

Neenah — Three new home permits issued Friday afternoon and this morning by Building Inspector Carlton F. Williams have raised the total of new houses authorized this year to four, three fewer than at this time last year.

George Cowling took out a permit for a $14,000 home and attached garage on Berkeley street. The house will be 26 by 44 feet and the garage 14 by 22 feet in size.

Backman Builders was issued a permit for a $13,000 home on Baldwin street, the house to be 24 by 38 feet in size and 1 1/2 stories high.

The third permit was issued to Builders, Inc., for a $16,000 home and attached garage on Reed street. The house will be 28 by 58 feet in size and the garage 20 by 24.

New London — William W. Baitinger, 23, 632 State street, Menasha, was bound over to Waupaca county court on a charge of non-support of his wife and one child by Police Justice of the Peace Roman Krause.

Baitinger was released on a bond of $500. His wife signed the complaint.

Rambler Firm Announces Higher Sales

Production Capacity Climbing, Additional Property Purchased

New York — (AP) — George Romney, president of the American Motors corporation, said Monday the pre-tax earnings for the three months that ended Dec. 31 were considerably higher than in the similar period of 1958.

AMC production capacity, Romney told the New York Society of Security Analysts, is climbing and property has been purchased to enable expansion to build a million cars a year.

In the week ending Jan. 16, AMC produced 10,530 Rambler autos, just nine less than in the previous week. Output for the new year is 21,069 compared with 18,034 in the same 1959 period.

Sales Rise Romney said wholesale car sales were up 36 per cent and appliance sales were 25 per cent higher in the three month period, a first quarter for the AMC fiscal year.

During the similar period in 1958, Romney said, the company earned $21 million, or $3.56 a share, on sales of $63,700,000 for a net income to sales ratio of nearly 10.9 per cent. AMC paid no income tax in that quarter but has paid them since.

Romney said the pre-tax profits as a per cent of net sales for the first quarter will be within one-half of one per cent of the ratio a year earlier, despite higher costs.

Additional Costs Romney added that nearly $13 million of additional costs resulted from price reductions on some cars and higher start-up costs on the 1960 model line because of production line expansion, greater employment and higher advertising, research and engineering costs.

By the fall of this year, Romney said, AMC will have a production capacity of 625,000 cars and with full overtime operations a capacity of more than 700,000 cars a year.

Romney did not say when additional production facilities would be built.

The AMC president predicted sales of "compact" cars would take more than 50 per cent of all car sales by 1963. He added, however, that this would depend on the willingness of the Big Three makers to let customer demand decide the expansion of their own smaller car programs.

U. S. government bonds were steady.

Teenagers Admit Fatal Beating At Milwaukee

Milwaukee — Police said they would ask juvenile authorities today to waive jurisdiction over two teenagers who have admitted the fatal beating of Mrs. Lilly Sandy Baham, 47, a widow.

Detective Inspector Rudolph Glaser said Monday night the boys, aged 16 and 17, admitted hitting and mauling the Negro woman and trying to rape her. The youths also are Negroes. Glaser said the boys were picked up after a relative of the 16-year-old telephoned authorities that he saw him washing his clothes in the basement of their home Sunday night.

A bloodstained jacket was found at the home, Glaser said, and the youth admitted his actions and implicated the other boy.

Expansion May Cost Bays 6 Men

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — The Packers would lose at least six veterans under one of the expansion plans being kicked around the eve of the National Football league convention in Miami.

The 1960 parley opens at 10 a. m. Wednesday, and the first order of business will be election of a new commissioner to fill the vacancy created by the death of Bert Bell last October.

The next order of business at sessions in the Kenilworth hotel will be expansion of the league. Four cities have applied for franchises—St. Louis, Miami, Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Two are opposed At least two owners are against expansion — George Marshall of the Redskins and Walter Wolfner of the Cardinals. But the "yes" forces, led by George Halas of the Bears, are expected to win out and add two new teams.

If two teams are added, how will the new clubs be "stocked" so that they will be able to compete on a fairly even basis?

Many share — the wealth ideas have been booting around, but the following plan seems to have captured some backing.

Each of the present clubs would set down an "untouchable" list of 20 or 22 players from its final 1959 roster of 36 active players. Names of the remaining players would be thrown into a hopper, and the two new clubs then would hold a draft.

Each of the two new clubs would be permitted to draft three players from each of the 12 present.

Thus, each new club would obtain a roster of 36 veterans and each old club would give up six players. And, two new cities would have practically hand-made teams.

Value of Franchise There would be some sort of cost, of course, and that likely would be based on the value of a franchise. In other words, a new city just isn't getting a team and going into business for free. And that's one of the reasons Minneapolis-St. Paul has raised $1,000,000.

Quick now, try making up an untouchable list of 22 Packers. . . and then imagine losing six of the remaining 14 players. Who would go?

While allotment of players seems like a major problem in expanding, the big stumbling block likely will be alignment of the two divisions.

The Packers, represented by President Dominic Olejniczak and coach — general manager Vince Lombardi, likely will vote against any form of alignment that would take the club out of the Western division.

The problems of alignment, "distribution" of players and schedule might well have been worked out already and merely are waiting final approval — pending a favorable decision to expand.

Blasingame Gets Pay Hike From San Francisco

San Francisco — (P) — Second baseman Don Blasingame, counted on by the San Francisco Giants to solidify their infield, gets a pay hike over his 1959 season with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Vice — President Charles "Chub" Feeney of the Giants said Blasingame, acquired in a winter trade, agreed to terms by telephone.

"He got a raise," said Feeney but didn't disclose terms. The 27-year-old second baseman came to the Giants in the trade that sent Daryl Spencer and Leon Wagner to the Cardinals.

Acquisition of Blasingame was one of the two big winter trades for the Giants, who led the National league until the final days when they faded to third behind Los Angeles and Milwaukee.

New York — Victor Zalan, 1959, outpointed Tony Dupas, 151, New Orleans, 10.

Leahy's Refusal to Move From Coast Apparently Takes Him Out Of NFL Commissioners Race

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
Miami Beach, Fla. — (P) — National Football league owners took time out today to sharpen their vocal weapons in preparation for what looms as a hot meeting Wednesday, but one of the major issues appears to have settled itself without a shot being fired.

The naming of a commissioner to succeed the late Bert Bell was expected to be a major item of business. It still is, but Acting Commissioner Austin H. Gunzel is due to get the job without opposition.

This became apparent Monday night when attorney Marshall Leahy of San Francisco said he would not move from that city. He and Gunzel were the only two mentioned seriously, and it was reported the West coast lawyer had the support of five owners, and Gunzel seven.

However, even Leahy's backers had said they would not approve of a commissioner with headquarters in the Far West, as 10 of the 12 league teams are east of the Mississippi, so his refusal to come to the East or Midwest because of family ties — he has five teenage daughters — apparently eliminated him from consideration.

3 Representatives Heard
So unless a darkhorse candidate suddenly emerges, or Leahy changes his mind, the new commissioner will be Gunzel.

At an informal "hearing" Monday night representatives of three of the four cities being considered as members should the league vote to expand were given an opportunity to boost the merits of their bids for berths.

The three were E. W. Boyer, speaking for Minneapolis-St. Paul; Joseph Griesedieck, beer firm executive from St. Louis, and Tex Schramm, Turn to Page 9, Col. 1

Wausau Soph Leads Gophers To Victory

Ray Cronk Scores 25 in 77-70 Win Over Illinois

By The Associated Press
Minnesota's improving Gophers avenged their only Big Ten loss of the season Monday night and took over third place in the conference race with a 77-70 triumph over Illinois. The Gophers are a half-game out of first.

The Gophers (3-1) broke the game open early in the second half and coasted past the Illini who suffered their second loss against three victories.

Earlier in the season Illinois had defeated Minnesota, 90-82. Sophomore Ray Cronk of Wausau, Wis., led Minnesota with 25 points while three other Gophers scored in double figures. Ron Johnson was second to the 6-7 Cronk with 18. Mannie Jackson topped Illinois with 21.

Minnesota, second place Iowa (4-1) and league-leading Ohio State (3-0) all get stiff tests on the road Saturday.

At Northwestern
Minnesota will be at Northwestern, Iowa is at Michigan State in a regionally-televized matinee and Ohio State invades Purdue. Michigan State, Northwestern and Purdue all have 2-2 records.

Minnesota and Iowa have proved they can win away from home. Minnesota won at Michigan Saturday and Iowa won at Wisconsin earlier in the campaign.

Ohio State, however, will be making its first conference appearance away from home. If the Buckeye sophomores have trouble on foreign courts, the race could turn into a real scramble since favored OSU plays six of its last eight games on the road.

Cronk hit on nine of 14 field goal attempts and wound up top scorer with 25 points as he teamed with senior Ron Johnson to crush Illinois in the second half.

Sophs Dischinger, Lucas Remain Ahead in Scoring

Chicago — (P) — Sophomores Terry Dischinger of Purdue and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State remain far ahead of the field in the Big Ten all-games scoring race.

Dischinger has 344 points in 13 games for a 26.4 average. Lucas, in 12 games, has 330 points and a 27.5 average.

The leaders:

Player	G	Pts	Avg
Dischinger, Purdue	13	344	26.4
Lucas, Ohio State	12	330	27.5
Johnson, Minnesota	14	277	19.7

Foxes Help With Reservations for Thursday Dinner

The Fox Cities Foxes are helping take reservations for the Green Bay Dodgers' Thursday night baseball dinner, according to Business Manager Bob Willis.

Willis said he will take ticket reservations over the phone (3-4152), and fans ordering them will be able to pick the tickets up at the Northland hotel, site of the affair, Thursday night. The "Baseball Night" dinner, sponsored by the Green Bay Baseball Corp., is scheduled to begin at 7 p. m. (Tickets cost $6).

Klippstein Featured

John Klippstein, a relief pitcher for the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959, will be the principal speaker.

Other notables scheduled to appear include: Johnny Logan, of the Milwaukee Braves; Dale Hackbart, University of Wisconsin football and baseball player and Green Bay Packer draftee; Andy Pafko, Braves' coach; Joe Hauser, former minor league slugger and manager; "Red" Cochrane and Tom Miller, of the Packers; Hal Totten, Three-I league president; Phil Seghi, Cincinnati farm director and former Green Bay manager; Dave Garcia, San Francisco Giant scout; Mel Jones, president of the St. Paul club (representing LA Dodger brass); and Ray McCrone and Willis, of the Foxes.

Wally Moon Gets $8,000 Increase

Los Angeles — (P) — Outfielder Wally Moon, whose timely hitting and all-around play sparked the Los Angeles Dodgers to the National league pennant last year, is getting an $8,000 pay increase.

General Manager Buzzie Bavasi Monday signed Moon to a 1960 contract that is understood to call for $30,000. Moon, last year batted .302, hit 19 homers and drove in 74 runs.

'Sugar' Takes Brisk Workout In Department Store Window

Boston — (P) — "Sugar" Ray Robinson scheduled another department store window workout today—for the March of Dimes as well as for his 15-round fight Friday night against Paul Pender.

"Sugar" went through a brisk drill Monday in a first-floor display window of Raymond's Department store and at least 1,000 persons caught a glimpse of him.

Noticeable to the ring fans, as champion by the other 46 were the many left hooks states which consider Gene Fullmer of Utah champion. thrown by Clarence Hinant.

Pick Olympic Ski Squad This Weekend

Ishpeming, Mich. — (P) — The 8-man United States Olympic selected during weekend competition on Ishpeming's Suicide hill.

Between 25 and 40 jumpers will compete in the trials Saturday and Sunday.

Each jumper will be permitted nine leaps, with the six best jumps—based on distance and form—determining the selection. The winners will represent the United States in the 1960 winter olympics in February at Squaw Valley, Calif.

A dozen candidates already have begun workouts here.

A pair of competitive meets will be run off in conjunction with the Olympic trials. The Paul Bietila Memorial tournament is set for Saturday and the Ishpeming Ski club's seventy-third annual tournament Sunday.

Another Dull Bout Folley Tops Machen, Will Shed His Tonsils

BY JACK STEVENSON
San Francisco — (P) — No. 2 ranking Heavyweight Zora Folley, who kept his word and a secret as he jabbed out a clear-cut victory over Eddie Machen in a lack-lustre battle, today hopes for a title shot against Ingemar Johansson.

"I beat Machen before and I'll beat him again," the 27-year-old Folley from Chandler, Ariz., vowed before he climbed into the Cow palace ring for his 12-round return match Monday night. Their first meeting ended in a controversial draw in April 1958.

The 194-pound Folley was so sure he could beat his 199-pound opponent from Portland, Ore., that he kept secret his troubles with ailing tonsils. The tonsils probably will come out Thursday in Phoenix, said Manager Bill Swift.

Financial Beating
Machen, an 8-5 favorite despite his No. 4 rating, took a financial beating too. It cost him about $270 to box the 12 rounds. His manager Sid Flaherty signed a contract for 60 per cent of the net gate—then guaranteed Folley $15,000—win, lose or draw. The net gate for the non-televized fight totaled $24,548.60 and 60 per cent of that is only $14,729.32.

Machen had lost just once before in his 33 previous fights—a 1-round knockout when Johansson connected with his right in Sweden a year and a half ago.

Monday night's fight brought repeated boos from the crowd of 5,447 and frequent warnings from referee Vern Bybee to step up the action.

Folley's jab kept Machen off balance throughout. Occasionally he followed with crisp right hand shots to the head and left hooks to the body.

Misses With Right
Machen tried to bob in under the jab, but even when he did get a combination started he usually missed with his big right or Zora tied him up.

In the ninth, Machen suffered a slight cut near his right eye. Eddie also had a small bruise under his left eye and Folley was bruised over his right eye.

Otherwise the fighters weren't marked, and there was nothing close to a knockdown.

Referee Bybee scored the bout 118-113. Judge Matt Zidich 117-114 and Judge Fred Bottaro 119-114.

Both Folley, who won victory No. 50 against 3 losses and 2 draws, and manager Swift called for a fight against Johansson.

Wilt Leads In Average, Total Points

New York—Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 Philadelphia Warrior rookie, has the National Basketball association scoring race all to himself today.

He leads in total points and game average, taking over the former from Cincinnati's Jack Twyman. Wilt "The Stilt" has scored 1,544 points in 41 games for a 37.6 average, according to NBA statistics.

Twyman has a 31.3 mark on 1,336 points in 49 games. He had topped the NBA until Chamberlain took over after games of last Sunday.

Fox Lutheran JV Basketball Team Posts 40-22 Win

The Fox Valley Lutheran High school junior varsity basketball team whipped Winnebago Lutheran, 40-22, at Fond du Lac in its most recent start.

The Junior Foxes held only a 9-8 lead after one quarter, but four long set shots by Dennis Suelflow in the second quarter enabled them to open a 22-15 halftime lead.

The pressing tactic of Verlyn Dobberstein and Bruce Landsverk bothered the hosts in the third quarter, and FVL ran up a 12-1 edge in that period. The Junior Foxes' Darwin Hintz paced both teams with 10 points.

Harmony Is Restored On Buffalo Club of Continental League

Buffalo, N.Y. —The possibility of a Continental league baseball franchise for this city appeared brighter today with harmony apparently restored among club leaders.

The appointment Monday of Reginald B. Taylor, the moneyman in the Buffalo baseball picture, as chairman of a new finance committee stemmed rumors of a disagreement. He was appointed at a meeting of the clubs' executive committee.

Braves Have Sold 9,706 Season Ducats

Remodeling Work At County Stadium Will Start Soon

Milwaukee —P— County stadium's baseball diamond is under a blanket of snow, but work will start soon on improvements to be completed before the opening of the Milwaukee Braves' 1960 season.

The wire fence surrounding the outfield will be replaced by a 5½-foot concrete wall topped by a wire screen nearly three feet high, it was announced Saturday.

The concrete part of the new fence will be painted green to give batters a better background. The new wall may also mean an end of the cuts suffered by several outfielders who crashed into the old wire fence while chasing fly balls. Work will start later this month.

Moved Up

The bleachers will be moved up to the new fence and raised enough to allow clear vision. The areas under the bleacher, which will be reached from the rear, will be paved.

The bullpen will be moved to the area under the scoreboard and the section now in use will be filled with new bleachers, all before March 15.

The Braves announced Saturday that orders have been received for 714,000 tickets, including applications for 9,706 season tickets.

Braves' attendance dipped slightly to 1,749,000 in 1959, when 12,000 season tickets were sold.

Sophs Pace Maryland To Victory

By The Associated Press

Sophomores Bruce Kelleher and Paul Jelus combined for 32 points to pace Maryland to a 63-53 Atlantic Coast conference victory over North Carolina State Monday night.

The win enabled the Terrapins to move into a second-place tie with Duke at 4-1. Idle North Carolina leads with 4-0.

Improved Kansas State (10-5) won its fifth Big Eight conference game without a loss, 68-66 over Iowa State; Baylor chopped Texas out of a 4-way tie for the Southwest conference lead 68-62.

Balanced scoring, topped by Wally Frank's 12 points, featured the victory for Kansas State, which holds a 1½-game lead over second-place Oklahoma, a 64-52 winner over Missouri. Oklahoma State's defense made the difference in a 62-49 defeat of Kansas despite Hightower's 22 points for the Jayhawks.

Georgia set a school scoring record, beating Stetson, 97-72, as John Johnson scored 19 points and Gordon Darrah and Don Keiser added 18 apiece.

Appleton Club's Pistol Teams Are Undefeated

The two pistol teams of the Appleton Rifle and Pistol club are undefeated in the East Central Wisconsin Pistol league postal matches.

The Appleton No. 1 team defeated De Pere No. 1 as Don Cuene was high individual scorer for the winners with a 282. The Appleton squad also beat Ripon as Robert Mather was the top individual point-maker with a 277.

The Appleton No. 2 team stopped Fond du Lac as W. ton Glaser counted 282 points to be the high individual. In a victory over Oshkosh, Glaser was the leading individual with a 281. Glaser's 283 was the top tally in the No. 2 team's triumph over De Pere.

The rifle team of the club lost to Mason in its first postal match in the Fox River Rifle league.

Evelyn Miller Slaps 196 Honor Singleton

Evelyn Miller topped the only honor score, a 196, for first place Eddie Mullin's (34-17) in the latest round of South Side Women's league bowling at the ACA.

Miller's mastery in the high jump is unchallenged. The 18-year-old Boston university student holds the world record at 7 feet 11 inches, set last season when he was 17.

Saturday he made his first competitive appearance in nine months, taking the high jump in the Knights of Columbus Games with a leap of 7 feet, 11 inches. It was his first public appearance since a foot injury sidelined him and threatened his career.

He failed in three attempts at a new record mark, 7 feet 11 inches, Saturday.

May Groom John Thomas For Decathlon Competition

Boston —John Thomas may not know it, but there's a chance he's being prepared for competition in the decathlon.

"You see, he's a dog for work," Boston University Coach Ed Flanagan said of his young high jump champion. "No matter what kind of a program I lay out for him he wants more work."

"So I've had him working on field events other than the high jump, everything but the pole vault. Just to take his mind off the high jump. He's done 44 feet 10 inches in the 10-pound shot, 190 feet in the javelin and has broad-jumped 23 feet, 6 inches."

Thomas' mastery in the high jump is unchallenged. The 18-year-old Boston university student holds the world record at 7 feet 11 inches, set last season when he was 17.

Saturday he made his first competitive appearance in nine months, taking the high jump in the Knights of Columbus Games with a leap of 7 feet, 11 inches. It was his first public appearance since a foot injury sidelined him and threatened his career.

Nixon's Part in Settlement of Steel Strike Will Affect Vote

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

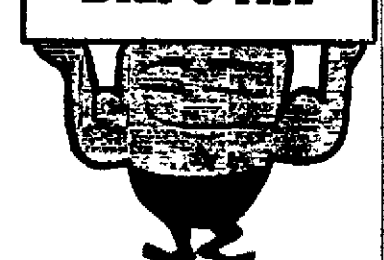

New York — The question arises every four years whether the labor leaders control the votes of the workers. New candidates wish to gamble on a correct answer. They assume that if men lead they also influence a that it is sounder politics to have friends among the labor leaders than enemies. Furthermore, the labor unions nowadays have bountiful treasuries which can be very useful during political campaigns, particularly to politicians who are short of money of their own.

Those candidates who are directly associated with the Americans for Democratic Action, have labor union association or perhaps affiliation. It is supposed to pay off.

"Want-Ads Work"

To Place a Want-Ad Dial 3-4411

"The Mighty Midget"

It certainly pays off in campaign contributions on or under the table.

A candidate for the presidency has learned from Franklin D. Roosevelt that the more conflicting and contrasting groups he can get to support him, the likelier he is to be elected. Also candidates have learned that the big capitalists and the men in management are not to be trusted because at dangerous moments, they desert their causes. Labor union support can be as steady and sure as gangster support. The mistreatment of Robert A. Taft by those whom he had defended, protected and safeguarded will never be disregarded by prospective candidates. It is taken as an axiom that a labor leader's word in a campaign is good; a businessman's word cannot be relied upon.

Nixon's Role
In the matter of the steel strike, three issues were uppermost: inflation; inadequate and inefficient production; the peril to the country of a strike that could have lasted a year or more.

The full responsibility for the continuance of the strike must be put on the shoulders of the companies' negotiators who, without adequate preparation and at the wrong timing, brought up the most serious issue of work rules.

Vice President Nixon intervened and accomplished the following:

One, the labor leaders received a clearly inflationary wage settlement, postponed, however, so that the price increase is likely to show in 1961.

Two, The issue of work rules is postponed indefinitely and the protest of the railroads against featherbedding which has been ruining the railroads is also postponed. This is an enormous advantage for the labor leaders;

Three, The steel strike was settled without formal governmental intervention such as perhaps the seizure of the mills, which might or might not have been legal in peacetime, and surely would have been unpopular and politically embarrassing.

The Eisenhower administration and the steel union have cause to be grateful to Vice President Nixon. The steel companies are dazed and hardly know quite what has happened to them. Their accountants tell them that if they do not increase prices, they have no way of absorbing costs. If they do increase prices, they will facilitate the inflation and further outprice themselves in world markets and possibly in the domestic market.

The politicians wonder whether Nixon has gained or lost by his intervention. Should price increases not come before the 1960 election, he has definitely gained because he helped labor and management out of an untenable position. Should a runaway inflation come in the autumn of 1960, he may be hurt. Should the Democratic nominee be an A.D.A. adherent, Nixon will still be regarded as a conservative statesman who is fair to labor. Should the Democratic candidate be a conservative like Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Nixon may have a tough campaign on this very issue. On balance, Nixon has gained with labor which can be grateful; he has lost somewhat with business which has never mobilized its strength sufficiently to be politically significant since Mark Hanna.

This is now clear: in 1961, the inflation will hit unless work rules in all American industries are revised to increase production to adjust to increased costs of production. Vice President Nixon has taken on a great problem which it is now his responsibility to solve. He can only safeguard his situation by the appointment of a work rules committee of such magnitude and public confidence that a serious report is to be anticipated from it. No shyster committee can be tolerated at this time, nor will it do any good. There are too many shyster committees all over the place now.

One Deer Killed By Automobile; Another Injured

One deer was killed, another was struck and presumably injured and two automobiles were damaged as a result of the accidents, county police reported Monday.

Roy Pingel, 21, 1026 S. Madison street, struck and killed a buck deer about 5:50 p. m. Sunday on County Trunk A in the town of Black Creek, a half mile west of Binghamton.

Fred F. Kaminski, 26, New London, said his car struck a deer on Highway 45 in the town of Hortonville shortly before 6 p. m. Saturday. He said the deer kept going after the impact.

Mattress Fire

Appleton firemen extinguished a small fire in a mattress at the Tom H. Nolan home, 1507 Oakcrest drive, about 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Nolan called firemen after he said he had put it out, but firemen found a small part of the mattress still afire.

God's Wisdom, That of Man Compared

Pastor Points Out Danger of Following World Ways

Two wisdoms, one the divine wisdom of God, the other the wisdom of the world and man's ego, were compared by the Rev. Wilbur A. Troge, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, in his sermon Sunday.

The pastor said Christians must give attention to accusations made against them which say the church has racial discrimination, a lack of stress on holiness of life and divisions which are the negation of true religion.

Spiritual Illness
"In all missionary activity Christians are to impart the wisdom of God. This divine wisdom is the revelation that God gives to correct, aid, and rectify the spiritual ailments and illnesses of men. That man, without God, suffers from a crippling, severe spiritual illness is evident from Biblical assertions and natural results," he said.

"Wisdom, according to Biblical usage, is the application of factual knowledge to life."

"The natural results of spiritual illness are man's failures to live with his fellow-man," he said.

"God's wisdom is his plan formed in eternity, laid in Jesus as the Savior of men."

"The world offers a wisdom conceived by men, a perversion of the truth, based on man's ego, to be good for goodness sake, where Jesus is despised and eternity forgotten."

Men Must Choose

Men must choose between these two wisdoms, the pastor said, and they should remember the wisdom of the world is doomed to pass away as it has in the past.

"Only the spirit knows God," the pastor said. No one can know the inner thoughts of another man unless he is told, and man cannot receive the revelation of the spirit from God unless he gives up the spirit of the world, he maintained.

Only the man who is governed by the mind of Christ becomes a true missionary, Pastor Troge said.

"... When a man has the mind of Christ he is taught by God, accepts what God has to say. He is a true missionary because he knows his application of divine wisdom is the only true solution to cure the spiritual and moral ills of man."

Reports Damage to Rural Mail Boxes

Llewellyn Wied, town of Maple Creek constable, reported to Sheriff Robert Heinritz over the weekend that eight or 10 mail boxes in the town have been damaged.

The boxes, Wied said, were on Highway 76 from the Maple Creek-Deer Creek town line road to a mile east of the intersection with County Trunk W.
